Explosion Causes Captain To Beach Passenger Ship On West Coast

Steamship Vancouver Badly Damaged and Circumstances Lead to Theory of Sabotage

"This Looks Suspicious", Captain Asserts. Witness Says He Heard Noise "Like a Bomb"

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 3 (AP)—A mystery explosion, which injured at least four crew members, ripped open the German steamship Vancouver today and caused her beaching in the Oakland estuary, where authorities sought the cause of the blast.

Police and district attorney Earl Warren boarded the vessel late today to aid Captain W. Moessinger in investigating the blast, which tore a hole in the hull in the No. 4 hold.

It was reported the Vancouver had 17 passengers aboard, as well as the crew of 54.

Captain Moessinger said the four crewmen listed as injured were not hurt seriously. He did not state the nature of their injuries, or whether any passengers were hurt.

Sabotage Suspected

A telephone call to the Oakland Tribune lent credence to a possible theory of sabotage.

"Do you want some good news?" an unidentified person told the Tribune city editor. "A bomb just went up on a German ship."

He hung up immediately, and a few minutes later the blast occurred.

Captain W. Moessinger, in command of the ship, declared "this looks damned suspicious."

He said a column of water shot up outside the vessel, followed by the roar of the explosion.

An eyewitness declared he "heard noise like a bomb," and then saw the water shoot up.

No one was permitted to board or leave the Hamburg-American freighter, but a coast guardmen reported he saw crewmen who evidently had been scalded badly.

Child Sisters Are Brides at Elkton

One, 13, Returns To Her School, Other Lives in Henhouse

Souderton, Pa., Nov. 3 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Frances Erb went back to school a bride today, while an older sister with whom she participated in a double elopement began married life in a hen house.

The sisters motored to Elkton, Md., yesterday in the five-year-old sedan of Martin Nace, 25, a pants factory worker, Miriam, 17, married Nace, while her high school freshman sister was wed to Robert Souder, 21, a WPA worker. The Rev. C. M. Cope performed the ceremonies.

Nace, the pants maker, took his bride to a converted hen house that has been his home for three years. They had to clamber up a rickety, seven-rung ladder, the only entrance.

While Mrs. Nace continued at her job as a domestic, her bridegroom planned to fix his rented quarters up "a bit." He said he would sod his front yard, a junk heap of old automobiles and tin cans, and plant a few flowers. His "honeymoon cottage" needs paint, but it has a stove pipe and several pieces of furniture. It is in the outskirts of nearby Sellersville.

Meanwhile, Nace's 13-year old sister-in-law told of the elopement between classes at Souderton High school. School officials threatened dismissal.

She said she and Souder went to Elkton to be witnesses at her sister's wedding "but we got to saying how nice it would be if we could get married, too."

"I hoped we could keep it a secret until I was 16 anyway," she shyly told newsmen.

Souder took the day off from a paving project and mournfully predicted his marriage "might be annulled."

By coast guard cutter, boat and train Henry Walther, 24, is being rushed from the Alaskan wilds to the bedside of his dying mother in Chicago. Walther began his trip at King Cove, at the tip of the Alaskan peninsula. Relatives feared the youth would fail to complete in time the 5,000-mile journey.

Forest Fires in West Va. Worst in Last Eight Years

Blanket of Smoke Covers Large Area of State

DRAFTS CALL SENT FOR 2,000 FIRE FIGHTERS

State Forester Griffin Makes First Plane Survey

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP)—An unbroken blanket of smoke, 9,000 feet thick in places, shut out the sky from 1,600 square miles of Southern West Virginia tonight in the worst forest fire epidemic in eight years.

A draft call for 2,000 more fire fighters was signed to assist the 1,600 worn-out volunteers who have been on the lines for almost two weeks.

Sheriffs and peace officers began rounding up new manpower from the fire zones before midnight.

In the first airplane survey of 12 flame-ravaged counties, State Forester D. B. Griffin came back with this first-hand story:

"It is indescribable. All the southern part of the state is dotted with fires and the smoke is rolling thousands of feet into the air. I counted 59 blazes still burning and there are more, I know, which could not be seen for smoke."

"This is despite the fact that in the last 12 days we have fought and put out 240 fires."

"In Logan county, around the emergency headquarters at Sharples, our plane had to go to 9,500 (Continued on Page Two.)"

Lindberghs Believed Considering Early Return to The United States

By CHARLES E. HARNER
New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was described by close friends today as carefully considering a termination of his voluntary European exile.

They said that the flier was resolved to retain his United States citizenship and that at no time, since he decided to leave the United States three years ago, had he abandoned hope his stay abroad would be other than temporary.

In proof of Lindbergh's pride of American citizenship, they pointed to the care with which he saw to it that his youngest son, Land Morrow Lindbergh, was registered as an American citizen.

The baby was born May 12, 1937, in a London nursing home. Within a few days, the Colonel appeared at the United States embassy to register the birth, thereby preventing any claim of British sovereignty over the boy.

Bride, 12, Jailed Husband, 60, Gets Liberty On Bail

Ruth Howard Chews Tobacco As She Awaits Hearing

Couple Married in Ohio Last April By Justice

Ashland, Ky., Nov. 3 (AP)—Another Kentucky child-bride—Ruth "Peachy" Whitte Howard, school records show to be 12 years old—and her 60-year-old husband since April, today faced legal proceedings.

Ruth, face smeared with rouge and mouth with lipstick sat in the jail at nearby Catlettsburg and chewed tobacco. Her hair has been cut to about a half inch in length and stood straight up.

Wilburn Howard, the husband, who can neither read nor write, was at liberty on $1,000 bond. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Howard next Wednesday.

Child Faces Charge

Saturday Ruth is scheduled to go before county Judge George G. Bell at Catlettsburg and answer charges of juvenile delinquency.

It was the same charge that took Rosie Columbus Tackett, 10, from her minor husband Flem Tackett, 34. Rosie is in a private home at Prestonsburg awaiting commitment to an orphanage or some other permanent abode.

Ruth says she is 14. Kentucky law sets 14 as the minimum age a girl legally can marry. Testimony given at a preliminary hearing was that Ruth and Howard were married April 11 at Ironton, Ohio, and were accompanied by her mother who gave Ruth's age as 16.

Boyd county Attorney Clayton Smoot said school records in Ashland show she was born Dec. 23, 1925, making her 12 years old.

Probate Judge Helen P. Clark of Lawrence county, Ohio, said Ruth and Howard were married by Justice of the Peace James Cannon, WPA worker, the same day they obtained the license. In Ohio a girl's marriageable age is 21 and 18 if the parents consent.

Bride in First Grade

Smoot said his investigation of Ruth's school record showed she never had advanced beyond the first grade. He said school authorities told him the girl had a mentality of a four or five-year-old child.

The case came before authorities when Howard obtained a warrant for a man he charged with detention of Ruth against his will.

Howard said at the time that the girl ran away about three weeks previously and he had trailed her through Southern Ohio and into Greenup county where he found her and returned her to his home.

Eight Indicted In Ice Plant Holdup

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Seven men and a woman were indicted today in connection with the $428,000 holdup of an armored car at the Rubel Ice Plant in Brooklyn in 1935—the largest cash robbery in New York.

Six of the men were charged with participating in the holdup; the woman, a rooming house proprietor, with harboring the gang afterward; and the seventh man, Dr. Harry Gilbert, with treating one of the robbers for a shotgun wound incurred during the escape.

The police department named the participants as John and Francis Oley, Percy Geary, Joe Kress, Archie Stewart, Stewart Wallace, Thomas Quinn, John Manning, Benjie McMahon and John Hughes.

John Oley and Geary and serving 77 years in Alcatraz penitentiary for kidnapping John O'Connell of Albany, N. Y. Francis Oley committed suicide in jail while awaiting trial for the kidnapping.

Hearst Editor Commits Suicide

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Victor F. Watson, 58, veteran Hearst editor, died today in a plunge from his 11th floor hotel room.

He left an unfinished note: "To the coroner: God forgive me for everything. I cannot..."

He had entered the room just 10 minutes before, after registering as "George L. Jones, Chicago."

After 40 years of active newspaper work as an employee of William Randolph Hearst, Watson recently was assigned to promotion work for the Hearst general management.

Dr. Carlton Simon, a friend of Watson, said that the former editor had been suffering from melancholia and that when he last saw him two weeks ago, he had been "very depressed."

He and his wife, the former Peggy Nolan, were divorced last May in Reno, Watson had been making his home in New York with his mother.

A native of New York, he attended private schools and became a reporter on the old Morning Journal in 1899, when he was 19 years old. He went later to the old New York American, becoming its city editor in 1918. Three years later he was made managing editor and then assistant publisher.

For a time he was managing editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, then was assigned the managing editorship of the Baltimore News. He was managing editor of the New York Daily Mirror in 1928. The following year he was returned to the American.

New Deal Is Made Dominant Issue In New York Battle

Ignored By Both Sides For a Time, But Is Revived

POLITICIANS AWAITING SPEECH BY ROOSEVELT

President To Be On Air From Hyde Park Tonight

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—The New Deal, accented by neither the Democratic nor Republican candidate for governor of New York, came into sharp relief as a campaign issue today as both camps awaited President Roosevelt's heralded radio address and a definite statement from Mayor F. H. LaGuardia on the admittedly tight contest.

Mr. Roosevelt kept his engagements to a minimum at the temporary White House in Hyde Park to work on his speech for tomorrow night, his only address of the campaign. It was indicated a strong endorsement of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and the Democratic state ticket would come from the president, in the hope it would help keep the president's home state in the Democratic column.

Hungarians Ready To Cross Border

Budapest, Nov. 3 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Hungarian troops with full field equipment will start moving at dawn Saturday to take back war-torn territories from Czechoslovakia.

Medva, North of Gyor, and Duborgaz, North of Magyar Ovar, in the Bratislava area across the Czechoslovak frontier from Northwestern Hungary, will be in the first zone occupied of the estimated 4,875 square miles awarded Hungary by yesterday's Vienna arbitration agreement.

Soldiers using pontoon bridges will push a general advance all along the Danube on Sunday.

They will occupy the strongly fortified city of Komarno, an important shipbuilding center, and six other communities.

In Ruthenia, the easternmost province of Czechoslovakia, they will occupy the Kiralyhelme district between the Vodorog and Latorica rivers and districts south of Beregszasz.

Other zones have not been announced yet, but all areas awarded by the Vienna arbitrators, foreign ministers Joachim Von Ribbentrop of Germany and Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy, will be taken over by Nov. 10.

Railway boxcars will carry thousands of troops from the Budapest area.

Newly mobilized soldiers will maintain garrisons near the frontier from which most of the army of occupation will be drawn.

Committee Backs Charges Against Penna. Democrats

Senate Investigators Sustain Davis on Misuse of WPA

Also Gets Evidence Republicans Plan To Steal Votes

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee sustained tonight three charges that Democrats misused WPA politically in Pennsylvania. It added that evidence tended to indicate three other allegations were true.

At the same time, it announced it was turning over to the Philadelphia public prosecutor's office evidence gathered on charges that Republicans intended to manipulate the voting machines in that city to their advantage; that they attempted to "buy" the support of Democratic committeemen and that they plotted to remove registration cards to prevent some voters from participating in Tuesday's election.

No Decision on Earle

The committee said flatly that it had found evidence to sustain three of a half dozen charges made by Senator James J. Davis, Republican incumbent opposed by Gov. George H. Earle, in the Pennsylvania senatorial race.

1.—That "numerous" WPA workers were ordered to change their political registration from Republican to Democratic and that some of them were discharged when they refused.

2.—That owners and drivers of trucks used by the WPA in Carbon county, Pa., were solicited for $100 contributions to the state Democratic campaign fund and that some had made contributions.

3.—That WPA employees had been solicited for contributions for the purchase of Democratic political meeting tickets and that some WPA employees joined in the solicitation.

WPA Workers Solicited

The committee said it had obtained an affidavit from Harry J. Williams, manager of WPA branch No. 2 at Wilkes-Barre, that officials of his branch knew, at the time a WPA investigation was made, that WPA employees in Luzerne county had received postal cards ordering them to report to Democratic campaign headquarters and that when they did report they were solicited for contributions.

The committee said its investigators reported they had information, including the statement of a truant officer, that work cards on state highway projects were given to school children 17 to 18 years old. Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said (Continued on Page Two.)

Arabs Irate Over British Tactics

Jerusalem, Nov. 3 (AP)—An Arab revolutionary leader today warned British residents of Palestine they could expect "reprisals" similar to those he threatened against Americans yesterday.

The threat to Americans in the Holy Land was based on what the revolutionary leader, Arif Abdul Razik, called their pro-Jewish attitude.

Today he said, "the vexing daily murders committed by the British army against peaceful Arab citizens will not continue any more without being answered."

"Consequently the penalty will fall on the heads of all Britishers residing in Palestine whether officers or civilians."

Six Arabs were killed today in the Haifa Bay area by British troops rounding up a band that had been sniping at Jewish settlements.

Students, Faculty of Johns Hopkins In Controversy Over Social Board

Baltimore, Nov. 3 (AP)—A vigorous controversy, involving the extent to which college or university students may enjoy a "Democratic Government," embroiled the faculty and a portion of the Johns Hopkins University student body today.

Immediate issue in the argument was the abolition, by the student council and Dean Edward W. Berry, of the Hopkins' Cottoil board which formerly handled dances and other social functions, on grounds the board was undemocratic and inclined to be snobbish.

Board members, said the student council with Dean Berry's approval, were elected largely on the basis of claims to social distinction. A new board of social activities was created to handle the Cottoil board's duties.

Admitting the justice of some of the council's claims, protesting students still contended the council and Dean Berry employed even more undemocratic methods in trying to remedy the old board's undemocratic administration.

The question, they asserted, should have been put up to the entire student body for a referendum. Dean Berry met a petition, requesting such action, with a letter to the student newspaper in which he commented that:

"In a college the government clearly does not rest on the consent of the governed... we do not consult students about the curriculum, the budget of the college nor appointments..."

J. Murray Kempton and Wethered Barroll, Jr., editors of the newspaper, took immediate exception to Dean Berry's position and his "concept of government." Acceptance of it, they wrote in an open letter to him, "would make a mockery of the whole mechanism of student government."

Under the auspices of a student "committee of thirty," a protest meeting was called for tomorrow on the campus.

MARYLAND ELECTION CENTER OF INTEREST

Tydings Giving Administration Mild Support in Speeches

By The Associated Press
Atlanta, Nov. 3 (AP)—The furor stirred among Southern Democrats by President Roosevelt's fruitless bid in the primaries to unseat three senators he deemed New Deal obstructionists was still today in an outwardly united party front for Tuesday's general election.

Each of the senators blacklisted—Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, E. D. Smith of South Carolina and Walter F. George of Georgia—has opposition but none now openly from within the Democratic party.

Armistice in Kentucky

Similarly, in Kentucky where the president successfully urged renomination of Senator Alben W. Barkley over Governor A. B. Chandler, the latter at times opposed to New Deal policies, intra-Democratic disagreements have been composed until after Nov. 8.

Tydings, since the primary in which he was renominated over New Dealer Rep. David J. Lewis, has made only oblique references to the presidential purge, asserting he supported most administration policies but opposed "European methods." Introduced at Democratic rallies as "the man we want to make the presidential nominee in 1940," Tydings urges a "navy second to none" for peace.

Record High for Off Year Likely Except in a Few Southern States

Associated Press Figures Show Heavy Increase in Registration for East and West

New York, Pennsylvania and California Expected to Cast Particularly Large Off-Year Vote

(By The Associated Press)
A survey indicated today that approximately 40,000,000 ballots would be cast in next Tuesday's election—a record high for an "off year." This total would represent 73.9 per cent of the estimated eligible vote listed in the survey at 54,324,930. In the 1936 presidential election, 45,646,817 votes were cast, or 82.3 per cent of the estimated national voting strength.

The compilation, made by the Associated Press, indicated that vigorous battles over candidates and issues in a half dozen major states might bring out a vote approaching or exceeding that of 1936.

Light Vote in South

A light vote was forecast for the south—where interest centered on the Democratic primaries—but substantial increases over the 1934 "off-year" election were listed for most other states. The 1934 vote aggregated 32,804,098.

Among the key Eastern states, New York's vote this year was estimated at about 4,900,000. A total of 5,557,845 persons registered in that state.

The Empire state's estimated vote this year is 696,398 under the 1936 vote, but tops that of 1934 by 967,594. The New York campaigns this year have been unusually hard-fought, with two senate seats and a governorship at stake.

The indicated vote of Pennsylvania, where a bitter fight has been waged since the primaries, is 4,100,000 out of 4,656,823 registered voters. The 1936 Pennsylvania vote exceeded the vote forecast for this year by only 38,105.

Big Vote in California

Another politically important state, California, has an official registration list of 3,611,416—the largest in history—and an estimated vote of 2,628,000.

Chamberlain Wins Approval of His Defense Program

Prime Minister Given Second Vote of Confidence

Effort to Censure Government Proves Failure

London, Nov. 3 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government tonight won its second vote of confidence in two days when an opposition motion censuring the government for Britain's inadequate defenses was defeated 355 votes to 130.

The opposition motion asked the House of Commons to censure the government's "admitted unpreparedness to protect the civil population when the country was brought to the brink of war" during the September Czechoslovak crisis.

Commons then gave approval to a government-proposed amendment to the censure motion supporting "the government's determination to complete with the utmost speed the measures necessary to provide for the country's needs."

Triple Effort Promised
Government spokesmen had promised a triple effort along that line to "regain the insular security" of Britain.

The House of Lords meanwhile adopted by 55 to six votes a government motion approving early application of the Anglo-Italian Easter friendship accord. Commons approved a similar motion last night.

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary who now turns over civilian defense measures to vigorous Sir John Anderson, new Lord Privy Seal, declared in the lower House.

"This country can make as good a system of passive defense as any in the world."

"We are determined to make it effective and see that it can play its full part with a substantial increase of the air force and a greatly increased system of anti-aircraft guns."

He said Britain's system of air raid precautions, despite all its imperfections, would stand comparison with that of any country in the world with the exception of Germany.

Outlines Defense Plans

Sir Samuel outlined a widespread expert survey to provide a system of bomb shelters, forecast provisions for 500,000 full-time air raid precaution workers in event of war and disclosed a government investigation into risks confronting in sandbags with a view to penalizing guilty contractors.

He spoke to the House after laborite Herbert Morrison urged adoption of the labor opposition's motion of censure expressing "grave concern at the admitted unpreparedness to protect the civil population when the country was brought to the brink of war" in late September.

Fragments of bone and teeth which police first believed to have been parts of Fried's body, exhumed from a freshly-cemented "tomb" in the cellar, were analyzed and found to be chicken, beef and rabbit bones from the refuse of banquets.

Find Machine Gun
Investigators, however, already had discovered dark stains, as of blood, on a coal chute leading to the cellar, as well as a secret room and a machine gun.

Police Lieut. Thomas Curley said the walls of the hidden chamber were pocked with bullet holes.

The captured trio, held without bail, gave their names as William Jackins, 27, who said he was a former WPA playground instructor, John Virga, 24, a clothes presser, and Demetrius Gula, 25, a pinball operator.

They were arraigned on kidnapping charges in the ransom abduction of Benjamin Farber, 33, of Brighton Beach, released for $25,000 after an original demand of $25,000, last April 18, and Norman Miller, 19, of Brooklyn, released for $12,000 after an original demand of $30,000, last July 24.

No charge was made against the trio in connection with the Fried case.

Joseph Stephen Sacoda, 27, named by FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover as the actual slayer of Fried, is now in Sing Sing for parole violation.

Maryland Registration Figures Give Democrats 2-1 Majority

(By The Associated Press)
On the registration books, Maryland will be a Democratic state by more than 2-to-1 majority in the November 8 election.

New registration figures, compiled by the Associated Press from official reports in all but two counties, give Democrats a book majority of 278,972 over Republicans in a total registration of 317,564 voters.

The division was:
Democrats 539,834
Republicans 260,862
Other parties 18,868.

Comparison of the 1938 registration with others since 1930 showed a total increase of 64,390 registrations since 1934. Democrats picked up 77,842 on the books while Republicans lost 8,380 and other parties showed a drop of 5,072.

The 1934 registration was the latest for a gubernatorial election. Compared with figures for the 1936 presidential election, the total increase was 47,651. Democrats adding 40,997 and Republicans adding 6,592. Other parties showed a loss of 1,938.

Tabulation, with figures from Anne Arundel and Howard counties estimated and unofficial, was:

Nice Twists Democrats
In the seat vacated by Lewis, Republicans seek to place A. Charles Stewart over William D. Byron to break Maryland's solidly Democratic congressional ranks.

Maryland's Republican governor, Harry W. Nice, opposed by Attorney General Herbert Romulus O'Connor, has been twisting Democrats about their silence on the New Deal.

Kentucky's Barkley, Senate majority leader who is being mentioned as possible successor to President Roosevelt, is opposed for reelection by John P. Haswell, Hardinsburg Republican. Barkley defends it.

Senator George, like Tydings lifted into the national limelight by renomination after President Roosevelt labeled him a conservative, is opposed by Charles A. Jiles, Atlanta lawyer, running as an independent.

There has been no active campaign in Georgia since the primary and George's reelection, like that of Governor E. D. Rivers and the Democratic congressional nominee is considered a matter of form.

No Doubt in South Carolina
Similarly in South Carolina the Democratic nomination is equivalent to election and the effect of the Nov. 4 vote will be merely to put the stamp of approval on Senator Smith and his fellow nominees, although the Republicans have a full slate in the field.

In North Carolina, Republicans are concentrating hopes for a congressional gain on the eighth district where W. O. Burgin was declared Democratic nominee over C. B. Deane after a long elections board and court tussle. He is opposed by John R. Jones, a district solicitor who is the only Republican holding a major elective office in the state.

The Republican party in the Tennessee sought to make capital of the bitter Democratic primary feud between E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader, and Governor Gordon H. Browning. But the Democrats who cast 332,523 votes to 78,292 by the Republicans in 1936, joined forces for the general election and Browning spoke a good word for Crump nominees. Two of Tennessee's nine congressmen are Republicans, the others Democrats. For the Senate, Harley G. Fowler is the Republican candidate running against A. T. Stewart, Democrat and John R. Neal, Independent Democrat. Prentice Cooper, Democrat, is opposed for governor by Republican Howard Baker.

Contest in Virginia
In Virginia, only four of the Democratic candidates for Congress have opposition. Principal interest centers in the Ninth district, where Rep. John W. Flannagan, the only "100 per cent New Dealer" in the Virginia delegation, is opposed by E. L. Gulliford, Republican bidding for support from conservative Democrats.

Louisiana's Democratic Senator John H. Overton and eight Democratic congressmen are unopposed. The Mississippi Democratic congressional delegation similarly is without opposition.

Three other Southern Democratic senators, Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, Claude Pepper of Florida and Lester Hill of Alabama, have Republican opponents but the Republican vote in these states is too light to cause Democratic candidates any worry.

Five Year Sentence For Flatiron Murder

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP)—Convicted of killing his brother with a flatiron, Harry "Greasehead" Pyles, 20, was sentenced to five years in prison today for involuntary manslaughter.

Pyles told the jury he threw the iron at Herman, 25, to protect another brother during a family quarrel last August.

His testimony was corroborated by his brother, Raymond, who is awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary to serve a 12-year sentence. Judge H. Clay Ward imposed the sentence a few minutes after the jury reported.

After eating meals costing less than one dollar each, one of the men offered to double any tip his friend left. The "pot" opened at $50 and ended with $360 on the table.

Republicans and Democrats Stage West Va. Rallies

Leaders of Both Parties Active As Campaign Nears End

(By The Associated Press)
While Republican speakers lambasted the administration's farm program in rallies Thursday night, democratic orators on half a dozen West Virginia platforms told voters that although the opposition belabors the New Deal it has never sought repeal of most of the important measures passed since 1933.

Introducing more activity into last five days of the campaign than at any time so far, both parties held big and little rallies in virtually every congressional and senatorial district.

Republicans centered their major activity in the Eastern farm country while three statehouse representatives were in the fourth congressional district and another at Clendenin, Senator M. M. Neely made an address to residents of the Logan mining area.

Farmer Claimed Forgotten
Walter S. Hallanan, Republican national committeeman speaking at Petersburg, contended that "the forgotten man of the New Deal" turned out to be the West Virginia farmer.

He said that "while the average A. A. A. disbursements throughout the country were $78.79 per farm person, we find that West Virginia farmers received $5.51 per farm person."

State Budget Director H. Isalah Smith in an address at Parkersburg declared:

"The leadership of the Republican party has not at any time advocated the repeal or the abolishment of any of the major laws of the Roosevelt administration. Have they proposed to repeal the law that guarantees all bank deposits under $5,000, the payment of aid to the blind, aid to dependent children, x x x appropriations through the public works administration x x x or many other worthwhile accomplishments of the national administration designed to be of benefit to the American people?"

Asks Votes for Johnson
Smith, along with Compensation Commissioner A. G. Matthews who spoke at Kenova and Secretary Walter Thurmond of the board of control who was at Hamlin, urged re-election of George W. Johnson, incumbent fourth district representative seeking re-election.

All three of the speakers compared conditions in 1933 with those of 1938, claiming advances all along the line for both state and national administrations and pointed to Johnson as one who had upheld President Roosevelt throughout.

Attorney General Clarence W. Meadows, addressing a rally at Clendenin, said that "no business or government can succeed unless there be cooperation. The Demo-

WPA Worker Stays In Jail In Lieu Of Paying $10 Fine

Charles M. Jack, husky young WPA worker who was jailed Tuesday for allegedly slugging his foreman, remained in jail last night in lieu of paying a $10 fine and $6.75 court costs.

The fine and ten days jail sentence was imposed Wednesday by Magistrate William H. Gelpert.

Jack hit Foreman Stanley J. Hillock in the eye after the latter told him to move faster with his wheel barrow according to court testimony.

Missing Heir to Two Fortunes Found Working For Appliance Company

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sydney E. Martin, Jr., 20, heir to two fortunes, who had been missing a month and a half, said tonight he tired of living on his father's money and left his home in Philadelphia to make his own living.

Martin disappeared after a visit to a Philadelphia night club September 15. He was identified here today as a house-to-house vacuum cleaner salesman for a midwest electrical appliance shop where he made his business debut shortly after coming to Richmond.

Earlier in the day—only a few hours before the reassuring telephone call—his parents voiced anew their fears for his safety. They were hunk that they feared a kidnapping in their appeal to the federal bureau of investigation.

senatorial seats, plus intense interest in the $30-every-Thursdays pension plan, are factors expected to bolster the California ballot total. The vote in 1936 aggregated 2,638,882, and in 1934, 2,074,563.

Registration also has reached a new peak of 889,401 in Washington state, where labor legislation is a major issue.

The populous states of Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts and Michigan are expected to top their 1934 vote by wide margins.

In the mid-West farming belt, major increases over the 1934 vote have been estimated for several states. Iowa, with an estimated eligible vote of 1,400,000, may cast close to 1,000,000 ballots, the survey indicated.

The vote forecast was compiled on the basis of official registrations in states where these were available, past voting trends and official and unofficial estimates.

Jersey Senatorial Race May End on Floor of Senate

Sheppard Warns Barbour and Ely; Jurisdiction in Doubt

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON)
Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—A warning by Chairman Sheppard of the special senate committee investigating senatorial primary and election contests, that the winner of the Barbour-Ely race in New Jersey may have to face "the tribunal of the senate" before he takes his seat, raises a question as to the jurisdiction of that committee.

In addition to the Sheppard group, the senate has a standing committee on privileges and elections, headed by Senator Walter F. George of Georgia.

Named to Frame Laws
Under the two resolutions authorizing the Sheppard committee to explore both primary and election campaign activities of all senatorial contests this year, its ultimate duty seems to be narrowed to that of aiding the senate "in enacting any remedial legislation or in deciding any contests which might be instituted involving the right to a seat in the United States senate." Actual consideration of any such contest, and the formulation of recommendations to the senate for or against the seating of any senator-elect, presumably are still an exclusive function of the standing committee on elections.

Committee Power in Doubt
That distinction in functions between the special and standing committees raised doubt that the Sheppard committee's report, due for presentation on the first day of the next session of the senate, will exclude any specific indictment of senators-elect for campaign irregularities or excessive expenditures. Its recommendations are apt to be confined to proposals for broadening and strengthening the corrupt practices act, including extension of federal authority to primary as well as election campaigns for both senate and house. Senator Sheppard indicated early in his committee's investigation that he and his committee colleagues believed that could be done effectively only through a constitutional amendment.

Will Provide Evidence
When a contest is instituted against the seating of a senator-elect, evidence gathered by Sheppard committee investigations will in all likelihood be turned over to the George committee. Passing judgment on this evidence apparently will remain a duty of standing committee.

There is an unexplored field for punitive action against defeated rather than victorious senate candidates, which the Sheppard committee might occupy. It invites any evidence it may now have or receive later as to violations of the

Drought in Midwest Broken by Rain

Chicago, Nov. 3 (AP)—Rain broke a drought and a heat wave in the Midwest today.

Showers pattered on the prairies of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, eastern Minnesota and upper Michigan.

Moving eastward toward Illinois and Indiana, the precipitation cooled a broad stretch of territory where temperatures had ranged through the 70's and 80's for several days.

But before summer's encore ended a reading of 75 degrees was written into the record book here today as the highest for the date in history.

were reported aboard the ship. Their fate was not known.

The terrific blast was heard for several miles.

Ship's officers refused to comment, other than to say they would have to open hatch No. 4 to determine the cause. They would not elaborate on the reference to the hatch.

The Vancouver's stern sank rapidly.

Harry A. Hutson, first class boat-swin's mate on a coast guard boat, said "I heard the explosion, looked up and saw a great clump of steam and smoke come out of the stack and all of the ventilators."

"The ship started settling immediately, turned in towards shore and let go both anchors."

"I drew alongside and saw men hurry from the engine room covered with oil."

"Some of the men appeared to be scalded. I asked the captain if he needed aid and he asked that coast guard and civil authorities be notified. The boat apparently had a large hole in her bottom, aft of the superstructure."

Scion of Oil Magnate Awarded More Money

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Peter Salm, 14-year old son of the former Mary Millicent Rogers and Count Ludwig Constantin Salm, today was awarded approximately $1,600,000 from the estate of his grandfather, Henry H. Rogers, son of the Standard Oil Magnate.

A compromise settlement was reached in Surrogate's Court, providing that $1,100,000 be turned over to young Salm's guardians outright, and the remainder added to a trust fund already established for him.

Rotarians Will Be Sponsors of Band at Oakland

Boys' Musical Organization Will Be Placed on Permanent Basis

Oakland, Md., Nov. 3—Definite steps toward the permanent organization of the Oakland Boys Band and a permanent sponsoring organization were completed at a meeting Tuesday night of a committee appointed by the Oakland Rotary Club.

The committee was composed of Delbert Davis, chairman, Grover C. Stemple, Dr. W. W. Grant, Ralph E. Weber, Arthur Lawton and Foster D. Bittle. The group met with Mayor Lawrence Fraley and worked out plans that are to be presented to the Oakland Rotary club on Friday evening.

It is expected, according to the committee, that the Rotary club will sponsor the band. Present plans call for a budget of $600 annually for the band's support, and the group plans on obtaining about $150 from town organizations and donations from citizens amounting to $250. Legislation already makes it mandatory for the town to levy $200 annually for the band's support.

PTA Elects Officers

Mrs. Edwin G. Lanzer was elected president of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Oakland elementary school at a meeting of that group in the school house. Others chosen were Mrs. Scott W. Shirer, vice-president; Mrs. J. J. Ashby, Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. W. S. Patterson, secretary.

Dr. H. R. DuPuy, county health officer, spoke to the group on his work among the schools, and F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent of schools, paid a tribute to Miss Marion Leary for her work as a teacher in the elementary school for so many years. Miss Leary gave up her position this year.

Get 250 Pound Bear

Jesse J. Ashby, Jr., and J. William Glotfelty, of Oakland, were two of a party of twenty who went bear hunting in West Virginia between Davis and Harmon this week. Their eighteen dogs routed out three bears but only one became a casualty, having been slain by a rifle in the hands of a Mr. Rohrbach.

Although Messrs. Ashby and Glotfelty were not there "at the kill," they received the doubtful honor of being among those to carry the 250-lb. bruin out of the thick woods, a distance of several miles, to a roadway.

Dies of Heart Attack

Asa Dixon, farmer of near Accident, died last evening about 9 o'clock while attending a political rally at Friendsville. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He had been suffering from heart trouble for about two years.

The deceased is survived by his wife and a large family. He is a brother of Arthur Dixon and Ed Dixon, of Friendsville, and John T. Dixon, of near Deer Park. He was also a brother of the late D. M. Dixon, Oakland.

Wedding Invitations Out

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Baines, of Hyattsville, Md., to the marriage of their daughter Anna May, to Mr. John Newton McIntire, of Oakland. The ceremony will take place Saturday afternoon, November 19, at 4 o'clock in the Pinckney Memorial Episcopal church at Hyattsville.

Mr. McIntire is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McIntire and has been in Washington, D. C., for the past several years. He is a graduate of the University of Maryland and is at present studying law.

Candidates Busy

County candidates, both Republican and Democrat, are winding up their campaigns this week. The Republicans are concluding with a mass meeting in the Grantsville school house tomorrow evening, November 4, at 7:30. From then until election individual candidates will travel over the county and discuss issues personally.

During the past several weeks meetings have been held almost nightly in various sections of the county and the issues of the campaign have been thoroughly discussed.

New Doctor Arrives

Dr. Cliff P. Berger, of Waterford, Va., arrived in Oakland today to locate here permanently as a practicing physician. Dr. Berger has practiced at Waterford and has also been an instructor in a medical college. He will occupy an office in the McComas building. He is married and his wife expects to remain in Waterford until the first of the year when she will join her husband here.

Appointed Instructor

Mrs. Lucille Robinson has been employed by the County Board of Education as music instructor in the Oakland Elementary and High schools and began her work on Tuesday. Another instructor has been added to the Oakland Elementary faculty, Mrs. Hugh Hall, of Oakland, having secured the position.

The Savage River Dam Prospects

THE EVENING TIMES cannot agree with the contention that A. Charles Stewart would have a better chance to get the Savage River dam project through if elected Sixth district representative than a Democrat.

Is the fact that being a Democrat going to land the appropriation for this necessary project, and is the Evening Times willing to admit that development projects of public importance are to be dispensed on the basis of politics instead of on need or merit? We have been told time and again that politics has nothing to do with these projects and that the funds are allotted for them on the basis of actual worth.

Moreover, if merely being a friend of the president should land this, or any other project, how does it come that Representative Lewis has never been able to land it, inasmuch as he has been quite friendly with the president? The answer to that is that the people of the district would most likely fare better by having as their representative some one who is personally interested in the project, as Mr. Stewart has proved himself to be, and who would fight for it as representative as strenuously as he has fought for it as president of the Allegany county commissioners in which capacity he has produced the only tangible results toward getting the dam that we have had. Knowing the necessity for it and being actively engaged in furthering it for a long time, Stewart certainly would be more apt to give the impetus needed to bring it about than his opponent, Mr. Byron, living miles away.

As for any criticism that Stewart is inconsistent with regard to the spending program by asking for some of the spending, it need only be noted that the spending is a fact and not a proposal or promise; that the funds are going to be allotted anyway under the program adopted by the president. Wherefore, if the money is to be spent, isn't it logical to have a man in this district's seat in the national House of Representatives who could be depended on to fight aggressively for the district's share of the funds rather than to let it go by surmise or default to other districts that have fighting representatives?

Celane and "Good Neighbors"

OBSERVING that matters of great importance often get scant notice when first announced, the Hampshire Review, of Romney, W. Va., editorially notes what it deems an instance in case in the plans of the Celanese Corporation of America for building a new plant at Pearlsburg, Va.

"The point is," says the Review, "not that a small town in Virginia is to get a ten-million dollar industry but that it is to manufacture a new synthetic, flexible rayon yarn that will take the place of Japanese silk. The process, a secret one, was developed by some unknown and unmentioned scientist in a Celanese laboratory. It will make 'silk' stockings cheaper."

"But that is not the most important thing yet. If the product comes up to expectations it will keep here the hundreds of millions of dollars this country spends in Japan for silk. Silk is Japan's chief export and the United States is Japan's best customer. The effect of the development of this process by which silk will be made by machinery instead of by silk worms may do what China has utterly failed to do—defeat Japan—for no country can carry on a war without money and if Japan's silk business is destroyed the government will go bankrupt. Thus we see how far-reaching may be a laboratory experiment."

"But, while Japan is losing its silk business rayon mills, such as the Celanese plant near Cumberland, stand to lose a considerable portion of their business by the action of our 'Good Neighbor' Mexico. Having stolen all the American and English oil properties there and being unable to sell the products for cash, Mexico is trading the oil to Germany, Japan and Italy, the three 'Aggressor' nations, for goods which it has mostly purchased in this country. Mexico has just put up the tariff on rayon 650 percent which will completely bar it out but Italy is trading Mexico rayon for our oil Mexico stole. So Mexico's banditry, like the negro's mousetrap, catches us 'goin' and a-comin'; they seize oil properties owned by hundreds of thousands of Americans then swap the stolen oil to Italy for rayon instead of buying it from American mills that employ American workers."

"And because of our 'good neighbor' policy Cardenas and his Mexican Communists are getting away with it."

All this is unfortunately true; and in connection with the "good neighbor" policy, American industries are receiving additional setbacks in the reciprocal trade agreements, which have been for some time quietly and secretly under negotiation by Secretary Hull and several of which are said to be held in secret until after the elections for obvious reasons. It is all right to be a good neighbor, even to a truculently bad neighbor, but somehow or other it doesn't seem sensible to cut the throat of home industry in order to be friendly and helpful.

Prof. Rogers, of Yale, suggests a ten-year budget dizziness, calling it "silly" to balance the budget every year. If we could only get that over to the tax collector!

A Baltimore specialist says he has found a cure for dizziness. Don't tell us that dizziness has spread to Baltimore.

A new era of confidence must be at hand. Have you noticed the new strapless evening gowns?

Yes, But How?

DR. OTTERBEIN DRESSLER, who told a Michigan convention of physicians that emotional waste is an outstanding contributor to heart disease and high blood pressure, will probably not claim originality for the finding. We seem to have heard the same thing many times before.

But having the diagnosis, how does one go about the indicated cure. Is serenity something which may be grasped—or if it is, is it to be held in times like these, when each day poises some new issue which enlists not merely our interest but our ardent hopes and fears? There are few institutions of men, here or abroad, which are not presently at a crossroads of some kind, and few of us today who enjoy a complete stability, a constancy of all the factors which make for peace of the mind and spirit.

Religion is the traditional refuge of those whose afflictions lie outside the physician's realm, but the deeply religious are themselves today among the most deeply concerned over the tendency of world affairs. We could, as the Wisconsin tavern keeper does, hibernate each fall and forget the world until the coming of spring; but this imposes on those who must attend us while we are out of circulation. We can try deliberately to blind ourselves to what goes on around us and in the world, but few men of lively sensibilities can manage so strenuous a feat of self-discipline. The effort itself is a tax on the arteries.

Meanwhile, we don't wish to seem ungrateful to Dr. Dressler for the prescription, but where does one have it filled?

When the Tire Blows

What is the best thing to do when a tire blows out?

Recent highway fatalities in which tire blow-outs were a factor raise a question as to the competency of the average driver to deal successfully with this type of emergency, the Keystone Automobile Club declares. To help the motorist avoid trouble under such circumstances the club advises:

Don't slam on the brakes.

Don't release the clutch.

The natural tendency of the driver when a blow-out occurs is to press hard on the brakes," said George E. Keneipp, manager of the club. "Driving experts agree this is the wrong thing to do. Instead, the driver should concentrate his attention on keeping the car on the road and allowing the decelerated motor to act as a brake in slowing down the vehicle."

"Quick application of the brakes may result in the car overturning. Releasing the clutch may throw the car into a skid. The big job of the driver when blow-out occurs is to steer. If he can keep the car on the road and prevent skidding he will avoid the horrors which often are the accompaniment to blow-out accidents."

It is further stated, for the benefit of drivers who never had experience with blow-outs, that a car always swerves in the direction of the blow-out; that is, if a left tire is affected, the swerve will be to the left, and vice versa. Another good thing for drivers to remember is to steer in the direction of the skid; that is, if the skid is to the left, steer that way. The car cannot be brought out of a skid by turning in the opposite direction.

The Man You Can Trust

THE MAN you can trust is the man who is simple, direct and sincere. When he undertakes a responsible task, he is fully and deeply conscious of his responsibility. He is intent upon fairness and justice to all, even to those who oppose him.

To him, the insincerity of the demagogue is as dishonest as the trickery of the con man or the embezzler. To him, honor is dearer than power, and a clear conscience more precious than wealth or fame. He is suspicious of mere brilliance and he is not easily fascinated by the plausibility of quacks, or misled by the enthusiasm of cranks, for good judgment, good character and ripe experience are what he most respects. He does not waver like a leaf in the winds of popular approval or disapproval.

When he makes a pledge he can be relied upon to keep it, at whatever cost to himself, for he acts on principles of right and wrong, not on the convenience or expediency of the moment. He is not all things to all men. When he says yes, he means yes, and, when he says no, means no.

In short, the man you can trust, in the long run, is not necessarily the clever man or the charming man, but the man who keeps his word.

By tossing his spare pennies into a pail in the kitchen, a Rhode Island man finds he has enough to pay his taxes. An observer says he'd try it but he doesn't want to clutter up the kitchen with barrels.

A Man under Pressure

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Do you want to know what your friend is like in his heart . . . in his real self?

Then watch him Under Pressure. When things have gone against him. When he has a headache. When his work isn't going so well. When his job is slipping out from under him. When there's grief in his heart. When his pride is hurt. When his wife's left him. When he's made an ass of himself. When life isn't so rosy.

That's when a man is proved. That's when you learn what he really is—Under Pressure.

I remember fellows who came up toward the front in the war. They talked plenty, some of them. They'd been all around the front, they'd done things, seen everything. They said, And this particular sector of ours was the quietest they'd ever been in.

Then they went out to the front itself and action started and things got hot and shells started dropping and little shrapnel exploded overhead and they were Under Pressure.

Well, sometimes a Loud Mouth collapsed and got a "terrible toothache" or trench fever and had to go back to a hospital, and sometimes a Loud Mouth settled down and showed us that he wasn't all talk and had something in him even though he was so loud and so garrulous.

You couldn't tell in advance just how a fellow would act in wartime. You had to wait until the pressure of conflict began to bear down on him. . . . Sometimes the bully proved himself a coward. Sometimes the bully made good his boasts.

But you and your friend and all the rest of us are like those fellows in the war. You can't know them and we can't know ourselves until we are Under Pressure, until the strain begins and we are stripping away the little pretenses and the cheerful optimism and face trouble and temptation. We find ourselves then, and unless we have very accommodating forgetteries, we never lose track again of what we are like, Under Pressure.

It's a very useful thing to know—more useful, even, than money in the bank. If we know how we act Under Pressure, and if we know that we can stand up, then we know we have something put by for a rainy day and it will not fail us.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In these days when condition often makes the difference between victory and defeat in the final quarter of a big football game I sometimes recall a rebuff by Fielding H. Yost, that stout abstainer and prohibitionist who has walked these many years up to his eyes in incoherent old-grads and never gnawed a dram. One afternoon Mr. Yost stood on the football field at Princeton watching a rather indifferent Michigan team go through the figures of the morrow's work against the Tiger and remarked that they lacked the old pepper. Rather brightly I suggested that some fighters when they went stale, including James J. Corbett—surely the most intelligent of them all—broke training with a crash, preferably on champagne, and when the swelling had abated came back better than ever.

"Now, if, instead of that water bucket, you were to send a half-dozen champagne coolers on the field along in the third quarter," I proposed, "you would see a surprising revival of spirits, or that which you call the old pepper."

Mr. Yost turned a cold glare on the author of this heretical idea and walked away from an evil presence muttering, "Champagne wine! Champagne wine! I have never had a drunkard on a team of mine and never will."

His Contempt Not Entirely Just

Well, it was just an idea, tossed off as casually as that, but from knowledge, nevertheless, that before prohibition some football trainers brought their men along on ale and that in the ring some gladiators were known to take a small knock at a bottle of brandy between rounds when their knees began to flutter, and came back raging. And even during prohibition one of the most painful social errors of the very elaborate social side of football nearly destroyed a fine old friendship between the business manager and the press agent of a famous team when the business manager phoned the social headquarters late in the evening and asked how things were going. It was common practice to buy several of those burly bums of rye from some reliable bootlegger, set it out on the tables in several connecting rooms of the social headquarters in a big hotel and revive college memories far into the night.

About 10 o'clock this night the business manager phoned and asked if the merry-making was proceeding without undue bloodshed, and the publicity manager gaily replied:—"Oh, yes, sir; yes, sir, indeed, sir; indeed, to be sure, yes, and the wine was wonderful."

"What wine?"

"Why, the champagne wine," said the publicity man. "Everybody had some as long as it lasted, and it was certainly fine, sir."

"That wine," he business manager said bitterly, "was for the team."

So, from piecing together bits of random information, I long ago arrived at the belief that Mr. Yost's fierce contempt for a mere mention of an idea then believed to be unique was not entirely just. He may have had no drunkards on any team of his, but other coaches had not been able to recruit as a ringer to help them through in grave emergencies the giant who lives in the bottle.

Stepping High and Handsome

There may be others who can match the experience of some who played for Washington and Lee against Virginia Polytechnic Institute about 1915 or 1916, a game which dragged through two listless quarters on a stifling autumn day and came brilliantly to life in the second half when Washington and Lee left the locker room stepping high and handsome and singing as they went. A sudden, lifeless football team began throwing passes which floated like bubbles and danced on the fingers of receivers who seemed to delight in juggling the ball ere plucking it down. There were shocking violations of all the standard formulas, play so unorthodox that the enemy, through their own training in football routine, could not believe what they saw, and Washington and Lee won by a couple of touchdowns from a water-cooled squad whose coach had lacked vision or provision, or both.

My informant, who saw Fordham lose to Pitt last week, said Fordham apparently was just played out in the latter part of the game.

"So were we and so was V. P. I. that day," he added, "but between halves certain persons unknown distributed several bottles of an unknown liquid which bubbled and whispered mischievously as our brave lads held the bottle necks to their innocent lips. I know we won, but I forget the exact score. As a matter of fact, I was blind."

A Democrat Speaks

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer

This newspaper has asserted several times that the national government as controlled at present is playing the game of the radicals and leading this country into collectivism.

In a recent speech before the Denver Chamber of Commerce, a nationally prominent Democrat, Benjamin C. Hilliard, Jr., went much further. Under the title "No Matter What You Call It: Communism," he indicted the New Deal for heading the country "straight for a dictatorship."

Speaking as a Democrat and em-

HIGH TIME FOR A RESCUE

O'Brian's Election in New York Deemed More Important Than That of Dewey

phasizing his party affiliation, Mr. Hilliard declared that the time had come for the people to unite on "the great middle ground of Americanism" and call a halt before all power is concentrated in Washington. "The time has come," he said, "for us to sit down and think things over. If we don't, then some strong man in Washington will take control."

Idle talk? Look over the record of the past five years and ask that question over again.

Other peoples have lost their liberties on the same highway. Don't think for a moment that it can't happen here."

Maryland Farm Musings

By the University of Maryland Extension Service

For every 1,000 feet of lumber that is sawed in the state of Maryland there is produced approximately one cord of slabwood, according to C. F. Winslow, specialist in forestry for the University of Maryland Extension Service.

The annual meeting of the Maryland State Horticultural Society will be held in Frederick on January 4 and 5 and a fruit show will be held in Baltimore during the Maryland Agricultural Society-Farm Bureau convention from January 11 to 13.

One of the interesting features of the Seventh World's Poultry Congress, which will be held in Cleveland next summer, will be educational motion pictures covering a variety of subjects, according to Dr. Morley A. Jull, head of the University of Maryland Poultry Department and a member of the executive board of the Congress.

He says that several foreign countries have already indicated that they are sending new motion pictures in color to the Congress and the United States will supply sufficient motion picture films to keep two or three theatres on the exposition grounds busy all of the time.

A Service Rendered

From the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Representative Dies and other members of his committee investigating un-American activities will doubtless be able to take care of themselves in any argument with their critics. Whether or not their procedure has been correct in every detail, they have rendered a service in a number of instances in exposing efforts to undermine our system of government. Perhaps some witnesses mixed opinions too freely with facts but that should not prejudice the basic purposes of the inquiry.

What is difficult to understand, however, is why an administration that smiled benignly on the notorious operations of the telegram-seizing Black committee a few years ago, later elevating its ex-Ku Klux chairman to the supreme bench, should tear its hair over the Dies group that thus far has drawn no complaint of illegal action.

The only inference is that the Dies committee has stepped upon the "pink" toes of some administration favorites.

By MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, Nov. 3.—The Republicans in New York place their major emphasis on electing their candidate for governor, Mr. Dewey, as against the Democrat's Mr. Lehman.

It is the natural thing. It usually happens, where there are contests for both governor and senator, that each party puts its major emphasis on electing the so-called head of the ticket, the candidate for governor, on the theory that the head carries the rest of the ticket.

But in the present New York campaign there are circumstances which suggest the Republicans might do well to shift their major emphasis from the ship from electing Dewey over Lehman to electing Republican John Lord O'Brien over Democratic Senator Wagner. Wagner would be a better point of attack than Lehman.

Not imperative. In the first place, so far as the Republicans reflect resistance to radicalism, defeat of Governor Lehman is not imperative necessary. Mr. Lehman is no radical. He is no New Dealer, no 100 percent Roosevelt man—in spite of whatever appearances may be arranged, and whatever silences Mr. Lehman may practice, for the purpose of the campaign.

When Mr. Roosevelt's court measure was in the Senate, Governor Lehman made a strong declaration against it—although as a governor he was not called upon to take a stand. He was deliberately dramatic. He wrote a public letter to Senator Wagner calling on him to oppose the court measure. Had Mr. Lehman been content merely to take a position in an ordinary way, he could have given out an ordinary statement to the press. Or he could have written a congratulatory letter to the other Democratic Senator from New York, Mr. Copeland, who already opposed the Court measure. For what Governor Lehman did, Mr. Roosevelt was resentful and still is, even though he, like Mr. Lehman, may preserve appearances during this campaign.

Near the Middle. Mr. Lehman's position within the Democratic party is somewhere near the middle of the road. Mr. Lehman is as far away from the extreme radical end of the Democratic party as Mr. Dewey is from the extreme conservative end of the Republican contest. Contest between Mr. Lehman and Mr. Dewey is contest between two men who, as respects the current national humanitarian issues, are in not greatly differing positions. Election of Mr. Dewey may be desirable from the standpoint of the Republicans as a party, and from the point of view internal within New York. But defeat of Lehman is not overwhelmingly imperative from the national point of view of resisting radicalism.

To Check Radicalism

On the other hand, defeat of Democratic Senator Wagner is decidedly desirable from the standpoint of checking radicalism. Mr. Wagner is the author of the Wagner Labor act. This act is the parent of the National Labor Relations Board. The board condones the sit-down strike as practiced by the Committee for Industrial Organization, CIO.

That the Labor Board discriminates in favor of CIO is charged by the older labor organization, the American Federation of Labor. A member of the Labor Board, Mr. Donald Wakefield Smith, who came to the end of his term and was reappointed by President Roosevelt, will come before the next Senate for confirmation. AFL opposes him. CIO supports him. AFL has existed seventy years, and never gave rise to fear of Communism. CIO has existed two years and has given rise, justly or not, to fear of Communism. It seems to me a fact that four related conditions—Senator Wagner's Labor act, the attitude of the Labor Board, the sit-down strike and CIO—compose a mechanism which can be used to carry America into a Communist form of society.

Foremost Issue

It would not be fair to blame Senator Wagner if he did not foresee the chain of conditions that has flowed from his Labor act. But the chain is now here and is a foremost issue. If Senator Wagner has disapproved it I have not seen his disavowal. If he is willing to accept the modifications of his Labor act which AFL proposes, I have not observed his saying so.

The opponent whom the Republicans nominated against Senator Wagner, Mr. John Lord O'Brien, is equipped to be as able a senator as ever sat in the body. In social point of view he was a liberal long before Mr. Roosevelt and the New Dealers committed larceny of the term "liberal" for use as a cloak over an eccentric combination of extreme radicalism with extreme reaction. Mr. O'Brien promoted some features of the New Deal before the New Deal existed. As a first rank lawyer in the Senate would give special service in separating the sound and workable parts of recent legislation from the parts that must be sloughed off.—Copyright, 1938.

Sir John Anderson

... to speed British defenses

Appointed lord privy seal to the British cabinet, Sir John Anderson, 56, faces the gigantic task of organizing the civilian defenses in Britain. The honor comes to Sir John less than a year after he was elected to the House of Commons for the first time. He will be assigned the task of organizing the air raids precaution bureau which was found wanting during the Czech war scare.

The Human Side Of the News

By EDWIN C. HILL

Now that the war scare is ebbing, the new hair-do is catching a lot of space in the papers. It's on the up-and-up—no down-falling strands, waves or ringlets, but a tight pull upward, reefed high up in the sky's yard.

The revolution starts with a bang, but for the hair-dressers the bang is out. You're just a frump if your hair isn't done that way—sleeked upward the way those leggy girls of the Renoir portraits always wear it. The International Master Ladies Hairdressers Association scold s Greta Garbo for being indifferent to this decree, for wearing it in a straight, down-falling effect. Mrs. Roosevelt smilingly conforms, considerably amused, judging from the press pictures.

Here is one notable hold-out against the authoritarian trend. Women, doing their hair this way or that, up, down or sideways, have always told the dictators to go jump in the Bosphorus, the Seine, the Thames, or anything handy. Louis XIV of France had conniption fits over the towering headdress of the women of his day. He issued one proclamation after another, storming, threatening and fuming about "this ugly and senseless custom." His swift and summary punishment of male offenders against various decrees had served their ends, but he was helpless against the women. Every once in a while he thought he had them licked but soon there would be a new outbreak of tall coiffures.

Hair Went Higher

Louis finally quit and the women went on wearing their hair higher and higher. This went on until 1714 when there came to the French court a beautiful, charming and mischievous little lady, the Duchess of Shrewsbury, wife of the British Ambassador. She was a captivating little person and whenever she appeared, the men gathered around her six feet deep. And she had a low coiffure. Overnight, the tall headdress of the French women was swept away. For years, the low, simple hair-do was de rigueur in France and nobody caring a hoot what this or that old king thought about it.

Then the coiffures began creeping up again, in tall towers of gauze, flowers and plumage. In the days of Marie Antoinette you were set just about right if your chin was exactly midway between your toes and the peak of your top-knot. That's literal fact—no exaggeration. Marie Antoinette had to have a sort of gable made in the roof of her coach—as did our Postmaster General Brown on his automobile, to let in his plug hat. Coiffures were always getting tangled up with chandeliers. In England, Pitt tamed down the coiffures by putting a ruinous tax on powder. In France, they just ebbed naturally and never since attained their old altitude record.

In the Headlines

Hair and its fixing is deep in the "folkways," and these same ancient founts of the human side of the news break out constantly in the headlines.

Here are two more today. The first has to do with the Spanish rebels, using divining rods to locate buried treasure. Almost as old as any record of man is the story of divining rods. The most ancient rods were branches of mistletoe, whose magical properties are timeless in legend—tracing back chiefly to the Scandinavian countries. No age and no country has failed to use them. Bombing planes may herald a new and troubled today over Spain, but yesterday lingers on. The ancient gods may smile sardonically at our "modernity."

After the New England hurricane, the uprooting of great old trees seemed more tragic than the sweeping away of houses. I have observed that returning travelers seemed more shocked by the sight of these fallen trees than by anything else. Trees are as deeply implanted in our race heritage as were the roots of these stricken giants in New England soil. Sacred groves fill our earliest chronicles.

Ancient Views

In the days of our racial dawn, the entire world was animate. Porphyry, the ancient vegetarian, wrote: "Why should the slaughter of a sheep or an ox be a greater wrong than the felling of a fir or an oak, seeing that a soul is implanted in these trees also?" Our Indians believed that the shade of a tree was its spirit. The Iroquois assigned to each species of tree had its own spirit, as did the Wanika of eastern Africa.

Trees, tresses and treasure—just three of a multitude of cut-backs to ancient behavior which could be found in any edition of any newspaper. These deep-sunken roots of the race life somehow give us encouragement in an hour of cataclysmic change and the fear of change. No demonic forces which ever have ranged the world ever have basically changed "the human side of the news."—Copyright, 1938.

Homes Menaced By Heavy Taxes, Nominee Avers

Future of American Householder Is Seen As Sabotaged

Hagerstown, Nov. 3.—Protection of the American home and family was the theme of a number of talks to voters of this county by A. Charles Stewart, Republican candidate for Congress, who brought his aggressive campaign for Republican success to a new high point of interest during his visit.

"Every home in America," Stewart asserted, "is menaced by the oppressive weight of a mortgage placed upon it by New Deal spending. The government hasn't a penny except what it abstracts from the pockets of the taxpayers. When it issues securities or bonds, it places an actual mortgage on your home and mine; for only through taxes that we pay can those securities be retired."

Has No Such Right.

"I do not believe that this present generation has any moral or legal right to sabotage the future of our people at the behest of a little group of New Dealers who have run away with the power given them by the Democratic party," the Frostburg businessman declared.

"The New Deal has no legal or moral right to spend our substance in riotous living and impose upon our children a staggering debt that they will have to spend a life of slavery in settling," he continued. "It would be unnatural for a mother or father to spend all they have, all they can borrow, and waste it today, leaving to their children as

They know that restricted production has restricted everything but hard times and the high cost of living. They know the 'more abundant life' made taxes, debts and deficits abundant, but didn't have the same effect on the wages earned by the family.

"They want to protect the American home and the American standard of living," Stewart added. "They want their husbands and sons to have good jobs that pay good wages in private industry; they do not want their men to be dependant for a livelihood on any politician or on any political hand-out, especially the kind that is given or withheld according to the recipient's willingness to surrender his franchise."

WE SAY OLD QUAKER BEST WAY TO SAVE MONEY ON WHISKEY

960 Out of 1,000 Men—in Dramatic Survey—
Confirmed Our Belief that OLD QUAKER,
Now 3 Years Old, is an Amazing Bargain!

You'll welcome this news! You can save money on whiskey without cutting corners on quality. Why do we say so? Because the judgment of 960 out of 1,000 men is that Old Quaker—now 3 years old—is a mild, ripe, full-bodied whiskey. But—we call your attention to the fact that Old Quaker sells at an amazing low price.

We actually sought out 1,000 men—from 22 states—asked them to try Old Quaker and give us their unbiased opinion. "Smell it!" we said. "Taste it! Swallow a drink of it! Then tell us what you think!"

Not one of these men knew the name, age or price of the whiskey he was trying. Yet 960 praised its smoothness, mellowness, mildness. So again, we say—Look at Old Quaker's rock-bottom price.

What This Means To You

If these 960 out of 1,000 men are right, then Old Quaker has got something you want! It's got fine quality at a low price! Make this same simple trial yourself! Convince yourself that Old Quaker is good news for every thrifty drinker!

Announcing the NEW FORD V-8 CARS for 1939

GREATER VALUE for every motorist has been built into the two new Ford V-8 cars for 1939. They further express the forward-looking policy of the Ford Motor Company—traditional Ford dependability and economy plus progressive engineering.

Each car is distinctive in design, yet each has something of the fine streamlining of the Lincoln-Zephyr—recognized style leader for the industry. Interior appointments are in keeping with outward beauty. Every detail is styled for good taste and good service.

Both are big, roomy cars, equipped with hydraulic brakes and powered with the V-8 engine that gives you so much extra smoothness. This year the quiet performance of the V-8 engine has been matched by the new quiet built into every part of the car.

The 1939 Ford cars bring you greater riding ease on every road. New seat construction, flexible transverse springs, and big hydraulic shock absorbers provide triple-cushioned riding comfort.

Both 1939 Ford cars are Ford-priced for greater dollar value. Both bring new meaning to the Ford phrase, "The Quality Car in the Low-price Field."

If You're Gonna Pick a Pup Better Keep the Kids in Mind

BY LYDIA GRAY SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer

New York—Choosing a dog for the home is as serious a job as preparing the baby's formula.

You can't just invite the first stray that begs a bone. He may have a vicious temper and scare the baby. Perhaps he's high strung, and will jump every time the radio is turned on.

So stray's features should be thoroughly investigated before the first bone is proffered, especially if there are small children in the family.

Pure-blooded pooches have personality quirks, too. Since the strains usually runs in the family, a little investigation of the various breeds will save a lot of wear and tear.

Dogs, Inc., a New York training school for pups, gives a few hints. Scotties and wire-haired, it says, aren't perfect play companions for children. Dogs of these breeds should be carefully picked. A Scottie may be too independent; a wire-haired too high strung. Bull dogs are faithful, but they suffer from cold. It's something of a chore to see a bull dog into his sweater and a baby into her play clothes all at once.

A dachshund makes a perfect apartment dog because it is smooth-haired, but let the baby step on its paw once, and the dachshund is off the baby for life.

Police dogs are all right IF well trained.

Best dogs for small children are the big ones, bred for work. St. Bernards, Collies, Airdales, Newfoundlanders. They are trained to protect, not attack, so they're very handy around the home, and gentle with the baby.

Of course, they don't do well in small quarters, so apartment dwellers will have to compromise on a smaller dog like a Welsh terrier, or perhaps a spaniel.

Here is the latest picture taken of Louise Rainer, as the Academy Award winner visited New York where she revealed she will renounce her Austrian citizenship and receive final naturalization papers as a U. S. Citizen. "Then," she said, "I'll be a hard-boiled American."

Probe Identity of Man Killed On Highway

Kearneysville, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP)—Maryland and Virginia police were asked today to aid in the identification of a man who was killed by an automobile near here.

The victim, who officers said was about 50, had a noticeable scar on his chin. The investigators added they understood he had ridden a freight train into this area a few days ago.

Care Secret Of Keeping One's Nose Pretty

JEANETTE MACDONALD gives her nose good care, too.

By HELEN FOLLETT

COSMETIC surgery, which has been developed to a high degree, comes to the aid of the person who suffers from a nasal deformity. The humped nose, the saddle or flattened nose, the long one with a large drooping tip, can all be treated successfully. But the specialist will tell you that it is best to leave well enough alone when it comes to noses unless they are really disfiguring.

Nose surfaces don't always qualify. They carry an oily film, they collect black points or, in time, show up coarse pores. All these troubles may be due to too much friction with a powder pad that is not clean. Sebaceous glands riot when the capacious coat gets too much rubbing. The best treatment consists of light soapy lavings, ironing with ice, sponging with witch hazel. Blackheads succumb to a solution of ordinary baking soda which combines with the wax-like deposits and softens them.

Hair dyeing, like face lifting, has become respectable. If a woman doesn't fancy herself as a cotton top, she seeks the services of a specialist, goes through the beauty hopper and comes out with her locks looking as they did in their pristine loveliness. Coloring the brain mat has become an art. It is because the work is done perfectly that there are no objections to the presto-change act.

A woman should think long and deeply if she is to attempt the job herself. There are many dyes obtainable; some suit some shades, others are better for other tones. The color to be matched is five or six inches from the scalp. It is best to avoid the darker shades because then there are no lights and shadows as there are in the homegrown fuzz.

When the right agent is obtained, the applicant for dark tresses can cut off a lock of her hair, put it through the coloring process, wait several days to observe results.

As some skins protest against hair dyes, a test is usually made. The experienced operator always does that, no matter how harmless the preparation may be.

Her Hobby Is Caring For Aged Persons

Denison, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth S. Frost, who likes to care for aged persons, has a hobby that has grown into a full-time job.

"Twenty years ago she began visiting the sick among elderly people, whose children were unable to care for them. Occasionally she brought them to her home for care.

After the death of her husband she constructed a small "hospital" near her home, with dormitory rooms, kitchens and a laboratory. Old people can live there as long as they desire.

Presto! Birds Appeared --And Wouldn't Leave

Milwaukee, Wis. (AP)—The magician who whisked away a cloth and released 20 pigeons to roost in the Schroeder hotel's crystal ballroom chandelier will not get a chance to do that again.

The slight-of-hand trick provided a favorite bit of entertainment at the American racing pigeon union's banquet but the hotel management wasn't so keen about it several days later. Some of the birds still refused to vacate or be caught.

Hotel employees spent most of the weekend on tall ladders catching 17 of the pigeons.

Bite of Wood Tick Causes Paralysis

Clendening Considers the Condition Sufficiently Serious to Issue a Warning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A CASE of paralysis following the bite of a wood tick has been reported from South Carolina. Some of the eastern states have previously reported such cases. Wood tick infestation with poisoning has frequently been reported from the Rocky Mountain states. In British Columbia it is also common. The condition is sufficiently serious that a warning is in order.

Several varieties of wood tick cause the paralysis. They are large, brown, ugly-looking bugs that swell up to three or four times their size after feeding. In sheep countries paralysis of sheep and of children has often been observed following their bite.

Toxin Is Cause

The paralysis is presumably caused by the introduction into the body of a non-infectious toxin which is liberated into the blood of the host while the tick is feeding. The toxin has an especial affinity for the nervous system. It has been found possible to produce the paralysis experimentally in animals by allowing female wood ticks to feed on them for a period of one or two weeks.

It is assumed that a feeding period of five or six days is required to allow the tick to inject enough poison into the host to cause paralysis, so there is plenty of time to remove the tick and prevent the sequences of prolonged infestation.

The paralysis is of an ascending variety, beginning in the feet with numbness, tingling sensations and dragging of the feet in walking. The legs are gradually affected with muscular weakness and inco-ordination. The arms are then involved in similar fashion, and often the vocal cords and muscles of the throat, so that swallowing is difficult. If the tick is found and removed, there is a very rapid reversal of all these symptoms, and within 24 hours to 48 hours the entire condition disappears.

May Lead to Death

If, however, the tick is allowed to remain, the paralysis of the throat may lead to death.

A typical case is that of a farmer who went to a neighboring community to inspect some prize pigs. Five days later he noticed numbness and tingling in his legs. Two days later the legs would not support the body, and there was some weakness of the arms and hands. He was taken to the hospital where definite nerve changes could be made out. A few days later the speech became thick and slurred. He called attention to a lump on his scalp. This was found to be a fully-distended wood tick. This was removed, just nine days after the prize pig inspection. The next day the paralysis was better and three days later he was dismissed from the hospital with all signs of paralysis gone.

Penmanship Influences Grading

Myers Urges Parents To Improve the Writing of School Children.

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

MOST SCHOOL children could write much better if they really cared to do so. But some children at best have considerable difficulty. It is very easy for us to say that we need have little concern about our child's penmanship since by and by he may use a typewriter. But we should not overlook the fact that our child, now in the third or fourth grade in school, will have to write an enormous amount of writing before he graduates from high school. It rarely occurs to us that his grade on a written paper is greatly affected by the quality of his penmanship. If the writing is neat and legible, the mark will be higher than if slovenly and hard to read.

When the teacher grades an unattractive paper which she reads with difficulty, she does not feel very generous. Some experiments have been made on marks by college professors. As you would guess, the same paper written poorly was graded higher when written well, and still higher when typed.

Over this country many children are taught by the so-called free hand or muscular movement penmanship. Much may be said for the system in case the child succeeds by it. But a good many children don't. It may be your child who is a miserable writer. He finesse of the club Q, which lost to West's K. West made the mistake of leading the heart Q, which East allowed to hold, and followed with a heart to East's K. East returned a club and South claimed the remainder of the tricks.

Both opponents made mistakes. East did not need to cover the 6 with the 10, as the 4 was played from dummy and the 6 was large enough to force the A, but since he did, West argued that the K should have been returned instead of the 2, or, realizing his error, tossed the K when he realized he had blocked the suit for West. East contended West should not have led the Q.

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL
NOW WASHES WHITE CLOTHES UP TO 15% WHITER!

Read how an amazing new ingredient makes New High-Test OXYDOL give whiter washes than ever—yet keeps it safe for washable colors, fabrics, and hands

Here it is—the amazing new kind of laundry soap that's creating such a furor all over America today—new High-Test OXYDOL! The soap that washes white clothes up to 15% whiter than old-fashioned bar and package soaps!

When first you try new High-Test Oxydol, we believe you'll be utterly amazed. For it contains a new ingredient that soap experts have been working on for years.

This remarkable ingredient not only multiplies washing power—but also keeps High-Test Oxydol safe for washable colors—safe for fabrics and hands. You'll find that even gaily colored prints come through wash after wash amazingly brilliant and fresh.

But that's not all. Tests against old-style package soaps show that High-Test Oxydol gives up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water. Rich, hard-working suds that stand up 2 to 3 times longer.

In tub washing, these rich suds soak dirt loose in as little as ten minutes. No back-breaking scrubbing to sap your strength and shorten the life of your clothes. In fact, clothes washed this scrubless way last 2 to 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear compared with old-style methods.

In washbasins, women say that new High-Test Oxydol is little short of a miracle! Its richer-than-ever suds soak dirt loose while the washer is running—give you DOUBLE-ACTION wash.

New High-Test Oxydol is easy on household budgets, too. Each cup goes up to one-fourth again as far—does up to 25% more work—than the same amount of old-fashioned soap. So it's a grand money-saver, too.

Get a package of new High-Test OXYDOL today. You'll find it for sale at all dealers in the familiar orange and blue bull-eye package. (No change in the box—the difference is in the soap.) Once you try it, we believe you'll never go back again to less modern soaps! Procter & Gamble.

Trade Mark Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

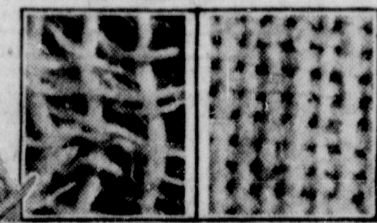

YOUR DEALER NOW HAS THE NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL THE SAME ORANGE AND BLUE BULL-EYE PACKAGE... THE ONLY CHANGE IS IN THE SOAP!

GIVES UP TO TWICE THE SUDS
of Less Modern Soaps in Hard Water

Even hardest water can't squelch the amazing suds-making power of new High-Test OXYDOL. Tests show that it gives up to TWICE THE SUDS of old-style bar and package soaps even in hard water—suds that actually last 2 to 3 times longer! Unbelievable? Try it and see for yourself!

Romance Still Goes Strong

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage
Copyright, 1938

This morning's mail brought a letter from a woman who said she's utterly tired of the word "hard-boiled." A check on our readers, I believe, will find a good many people who agree with her.

People delight in telling you that this is an unromantic age, but people continue to fall in love and marry—young, old, and middle-aged. If you doubt this, just remember the number of wedding presents you've had to give in the last few months.

Don't Foster Romance

It's an age of machinery, the hard-boiled declare, and machines don't foster romance. Also, it's an age full of fear, and people are much too busy worrying about jobs and pay cuts and overdue bills, to have any zest for romantic experiences. Love, according to these realists, has been pretty much crowded off the stage of life.

We'll agree that most of us are hard up, that we have our troubles, big and little. But that doesn't alter the way human creatures are made. Quite as much as ever, our hearts still need love. Unconsciously, we still demand romance—and we manage to capture it.

Don't let anyone persuade you that the world has become so hard and bloodless that delightful, romantic, storybook things don't happen any more. All you have to do, to discover real romance, is to read the daily papers.

The Millionaire's Daughter

Did you read the intensely human story of the millionaire's daughter who went off to live in a log cabin, with her young husband? The threat of disinheritance did not daunt her, and you probably realized how pretty she was from a picture taken in a bungalow apron, feeding the chickens. I won't give

Asks for Treaties--Not Guns

He said he would adhere to his trade agreements program.

her name because they both begged for a little seclusion.

The next romantic happening revealed by the daily paper with dozens of photographs, seems to have been snatched bodily from opera bouffe. We've read about the same situation in fiction, we've seen it in dozens of plays and light operas, and we've always thought it utterly unconvincing—but here it happened in real life.

The jailer's daughter, beautiful and blonde, sneaks the keys from her father's possession, and helps the handsome convict to escape. I believe the young lady is now out on bail, as the result of her thoroughly romantic adventure.

For a Pugilist

Another lady possessed of many millions and as many names as a declension in a foreign language, owing to her romantic habits of marriage and divorce, fell for a pugilist. Whether it was his voice or his muscles which took her fancy has not yet been revealed.

In Clifton Springs, New York, some weeks ago, a number of romantic old persons, who had been married half a century or more gave precepts for married happiness. There were fifteen couples, old warriors of life, still romantically happy. They got together for a dinner and told how beautiful life had been. Most of the precepts given on how to be happy, though married, consisted of "give and take"; "bear and forbear"; the case of "neither being boss", and, above all, "stick to the promise you made at the altar." Pretty romantic, eh, what?

Polaris, the North Star, is becoming more truly the "pole star." Two hundred years from now it will be within one-quarter of a degree of the celestial pole.

The first man to prove that the progress of sound through any medium depends upon the elasticity and density of that medium, was Sir Isaac Newton.

Gold Miner Finishes His Short Cut After 32 Years of Drilling

Randsburg, Calif. (AP)—Mining men say that the tunnel just driven through Black Mountain by William Schmidt is probably the greatest one-man achievement in the history of the search for precious metals.

Schmidt started his tunnel 32 years ago so that he could more easily transport gold ore from a remote mountain claim far from any roads. Incidentally he hoped the bore would tap other veins of mineral in the heart of Black Mountain.

Unable to afford machinery, he has driven the 2,000-foot tunnel through solid granite by hand drilling and blasting. He has worked on ranches during the summers to earn money for food and dynamite.

Now, at the age of 66 and with his long job completed, Schmidt intends to go to work in earnest to develop his long idle gold deposit.

Kenamer To Get Six Months Parole

Oklahoma City, Nov. 2 (AP)—Gov. E. W. Marland announced today he would issue a six-month parole to Phil Kenamer, 23-year-old convicted socialist slayer, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kenamer.

Marland's Clemency Board recommended the parole to enable Kenamer to accompany his mother, who is ill, on a trip to Arizona. He has served two years and eight months of a 25-year manslaughter sentence for the slaying of John Gorrell, Jr., in November, 1934.

The State Lunacy Commission declared Kenamer sane after an examination today.

Legion Post at Frostburg Will Sponsor Armistice Day Program

All Churches Asked To Toll Bells at 11 a. m., Exercises To Be Held On Postoffice Plaza

Frostburg, Nov. 3.—The annual community observance of Armistice day will be sponsored this year as usual by Parady Post, No. 24, American Legion. As November 11 will be the 20th anniversary of the ending of the great world war, the Legion committee has requested all churches to toll their bells at 11 a. m., as a token of rejoicing and in gratitude for the peace of the world which was so seriously menaced in recent months by events in Europe. All persons are requested to suspend activities for a brief period during the tolling of the bells.

The exercises to be held at the soldier monument on postoffice plaza will include an invocation by The Rev. Edgar W. Beckett, pastor of First M. E. Church; and address by The Rev. I. F. Kracke, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, and benediction by Rev. Mr. Beckett.

A salute will be fired by the firing squad of Parady Post under direction of S. W. Green and tape will be sounded by the Legion bugler. The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of Raymond Spitzman, chairman; Hugh G. Watson, Walter Cook, Rudolph Nickel and Olen Spiker.

Revival In Use of Stone For Building

Building construction in this locality during the past summer has been signaled by the return of the stonemason, a trade which, on account of the general use of concrete, had become almost a lost art, there being only a few of the Frostburg veterans left for this kind of work. The recent tendency to use stone for construction work, according to local stonemasons, was given impetus by the beauty of the Kauffman residence in LaVale and the attractive stone veneering on Mt. Zion Welsh Baptist Memorial Church, this city.

The choice of stone by local WPA engineers, to reconstruct with stone walls of concrete which had been crumbling and cracking for several years is also being credited with the popularity of stone for building purposes. Stone construction work here in recent months include the Welsh Baptist Church, Lewis residence, N. Water street, A. J. Irwin marble yard office, the East Union street retaining wall and similar walls at the residences of Dr. W. O. McLane, William B. Yates and Mrs. Sara Skidmore.

A number of young men who served as apprentices to older stonemasons and then gave up the trade finding ready employment. Local WPA engineers and one local contractor expressed the opinion today that a fair portion of future residences and most of the retaining walls in the community would be built of native stone which are easily obtainable within a few miles in every direction from the center of the town.

Remodel Building

The building occupied by the Melick Motor Sales, East Union street, is undergoing extensive changes by Sleeman Brothers, owners, to meet the requirements of the occupants. Part of the front is being removed and will be replaced with a huge door as an entrance to the east end of the building. The interior of the structure is being equipped with new fixtures and the entire main floor exclusive of the office and a greasing room for motor cars.

Old Carlisle Back Has Togs But No Players

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—Gus Welch, the old Carlisle Indian back, shook his head today over his football squad at the American University.

"Some coaches," he sighed, "have trouble getting uniforms for his team. I don't. I have trouble getting a team for my uniforms."

"Last week," he recalled, "when we went down into Virginia I asked the school chancellor for a bus that would seat 30."

Gus said the chancellor looked at him.

"Thirty?" asked the chancellor. "Why, you've got only 13 players on your squad."

"I know it," Gus replied, "and this is the first time in my coaching history that I've had to dress cheerleaders up in football clothes to make the bench look better."

Woman's Club Members Hear Mrs. Kalbaugh

"Towers in the Mist" is Reviewed For Piedmont Women

Westernport, Nov. 2.—A review of "Towers in the Mist," a novel by Elizabeth Goudge dealing with life in Oxford during the time of Queen Elizabeth, was given by Mrs. Z. T. Kalbaugh at the meeting of Piedmont Woman's club Wednesday night.

Promises Unfilled In West Virginia, Eyster Declares

Candidate For Senator Warns Against "Hand- picked" Legislature

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 3.—Starting a final tour of the Sixteenth senatorial district today, J. A. Eyster, Republican nominee for state Senate, stated that so long as the voters remain subservient to the party presently in power at Charleston they need expect no favors at the hands of the administration.

"Construction of Route 340 from the Virginia line through Charles Town to Harper's Ferry," he declared, "was promised on three different occasions but has not yet been built. Governor Kump, long ago, promised construction of a bridge at Harper's Ferry. Nothing has been done about it. Nothing will be done about these things if our citizens remain apathetic; if they continue to fall in line at each election."

Speech Like Old Toys

"Recently, Governor Holt, who was the crown prince of the Kump regime, made an extensive address over the radio stations of the state," Eyster said. "His speech might be likened to a basket full of unused toys found by a child in the closet of a house into which he has just moved. It was full of promises made by Mr. Kump which have never been carried out."

"Governor Holt spoke somewhat vaguely of free textbooks for our school children. I am in favor of free textbooks and if elected will work with every particle of influence at my command to make the dream of the Democratic administration an actuality. It is time that this and other promises were fulfilled," the Republican candidate declared.

Tried Tax on Farmers

"There is real danger to the people of this section if a handpicked legislature is allowed to sit in the halls of the Legislature at Charleston next January," Eyster warned. "We must remember that it was the Holt regime that tried to put a tax on the gasoline that farmers use in their tractors and other farm machinery."

"That attempt to blackmail the farmer into paying heavier taxes," said Eyster in conclusion, "was blocked by an independent member of the Legislature. If the next session contains a majority of rubber stamps, that tax will probably be loaded on the farmer's back."

In Tuition Tangle

Pretty Peggy Cort, 17, of Arlington, N. J., finds herself in a tuition tangle at Lynn English High School in Lynn, Mass. The school committee has ordered her dismissal from school because her parents cannot pay $139 tuition fee. Meanwhile, students rallied to her defense.

Bad Penny Traps Youthful Burglar

Pueblo, Colo. (AP)—Al Voss' bad penny came back, and brought the burglar with it.

Voss, a filling station operator, reported somebody broke into his place during the night and robbed the cash register, including a bad penny.

A few minutes later Voss called police again and told them a youthful customer on a motorcycle offered him the same bad penny in paying for a tank of gasoline.

Voss delayed the youth until police arrived. They obtained a confession that the night before he had broken into two places, and took $150. Part of the money was used to purchase the motorcycle he was riding.

Ore Output Increased

Denver (AP)—The famed Cripple Creek mining district of Colorado produced 491,577 tons of ore in 1937 worth $5,081,718, a report discloses. It was an increase of $112,607 over the value of the 1936 output.

Natives of the tropics use the juice of a fruit (the tropical papaya) to tenderize their meats, since meat cannot be hung because of spoilage.

Only One Coin Was Counterfeit

Cleveland, O. (AP)—One lead quarter in 1,500,000 sales has convinced sponsors of eleven stands and cafeterias operated by the Cleveland society for the blind that people are pretty generally honest.

The bad quarter was passed at a blind-operated candy store in the city hall.

Albino Bagged

Denver (AP)—For the first time in many years, an albino deer was killed in Colorado during the 1938 big game season. The white buck was a small, young one that weighed 122 pounds.

Say it—with a Clear Skin

OUR SKIN frequently reflects how we feel. In business and social contacts we like our friends to tell us how well we look.

The laity now recognizes—as physicians and scientists have for years—the vital importance of rich, red blood, as the foundation of strength, energy, and a clear healthy skin.

for that tired, run-down feeling. It is well known how worry, overwork and undue strain take their toll of the precious red cells of the blood.

S.S.S. Tonic brings you new strength and vitality by restoring your blood to a healthy state, and its benefits are cumulative and enduring in the absence of an organic trouble.

improves the appetite. Further, S.S.S. Tonic whets the appetite... foods taste better... natural digestive juices are stimulated, and finally, the food you eat is of more value... a very important step back to health.

Buy and use with complete confidence, and we believe you, like thousands of others, will be enthusiastic in your praise of S.S.S. Tonic for its part in making "you feel like yourself again."

At all drug stores in two sizes. You will find the larger size more economical.

S.S.S. Tonic stimulates the appetite and helps change weak blood cells to strong ones.

Lloyd Prefers Street Scenes to All Others

The giant street setting in "If I Were King" representing the famous "Court of Miracles" of medieval Paris continues one of Frank Lloyd's fondest traditions. Ever since his earliest years in Hollywood the famous producer-director has preferred a street to any other type of background.

For his "Cavalcade"—the Academy Award winner of five years ago—Lloyd constructed the memorable Trafalgar Square set as a background for the unforgettable Armistice scenes. In his "Berkeley Square," much of the important action took place in the great plaza he put up for the occasion. Even "Mutiny on the Bounty"—another Academy Award winner—had as a major setting a South Sea island street.

When "If I Were King" opens tomorrow at the Strand Theatre, starring Ronald Colman, Frances Dee and Basil Rathbone at the head of a cast of thousands, the "Court of Miracles" set will be seen as the background for the activities of Colman, in the role of Francois Villon, and his fellow-vagabonds of Paris.

Movie Quiz

One of the 20th Century-Fox's greatest productions in the Movie Quiz $250,000 contest is "Suez," spectacular drama which concludes its record-breaking seven-day engagement at the Strand Theatre today. Tyrone Power, Loretta Young and Annabella share top honors in the film.

Others comprising the distinguished supporting cast are J. Edward Bromberg, Joseph Schildkraut, Hen-

Junior Lloyd

Alma Lloyd plays under the direction of her famous father, Frank Lloyd, in the new picture, "If I Were King," which opens Saturday at the Strand theatre. Playing a gay tavern wench, Miss Lloyd joins a cast topped by Ronald Colman and Frances Dee.

Starrett Rides in "South of Arizona"

The detection of prevention of cattle rustling, murder and other frontier villainies keep two-fisted

Charles Starrett hopping in Columbia's "South of Arizona," now at the Embassy Theatre audiences thrilled by the new and pulse-quickening picture. Iris Meredith is the charming and talented leading lady for the popular, hard-riding cowboy star and the Sons of the Pioneers supply three tuneful new ballads of the old West.

Briefly, "South of Arizona" concerns a young cowpuncher, trying to rid a harassed country of cattle rustlers, who finds the slain body of a young ranger. The young puncher, played by Charles Starrett, attempts to solve the murder, and to protect the young sister of the ranger, charmingly played by winsome Miss Meredith.

In his efforts the cowboy hero had but recently been acclaimed a hero by fellow ranchers, finds himself under suspicion and then accused of murder.

This thrill-filled film was well directed by Sam Nelson, maker of other successful Starrett pictures, from the cleverly written story by Bennett Cohen. The tuneful new songs of the old West sung as only the Sons of the Pioneers can sing them, and a cast that includes four former western stars, Edmund Cobb, Art Hix, Hal Taliaferro, and Ed Coxen, make this rousing Western swell entertainment for the entire family!

The second feature being Frank Fay and Ruth Hall in "Meet The Mayor."

Float Heralds Movie

The Gold Diggers are coming to town, and their coming was heralded today by a lavish and unusual float with a cargo of local beauties, which made its appearance on all the principal streets in town, attracting a great deal of attention.

The band accompanied the puerile display, playing some of the catchy tunes from "Gold Diggers in Paris," which is to have its premiere Friday at the Garden Theatre.

This latest and most elaborate of the Warner Bros. musicals marks the return of Rudy Vallee to the screen after an absence of some three years, an event to which the millions of radio fans are looking forward to with delight. Rosemary Lane is featured with him, and a host of other famous folks.

"Sl. in New York"

The daring exploits of a deadly hero who essays to wipe out the gangster overlords of a great city after the police have proved helpless to punish them, forms the thrilling theme of "The Saint in New York," RKO-Radio's unusual new melodrama at the Garden Theatre.

"Brother Rat" For Lafts Only

They flew in the teeth of sacred tradition at Warner Bros. Studio by making a college picture with a football game, a single swing and dance routine or a solitary dumb professor.

"Brother Rat" is the name of this formula flouting production. Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane head the cast and William Keighley was the director. It will be shown tomorrow at the Liberty Theatre.

Like the stage hit upon which it is based, the picture is a story of life at the Virginia Military Institute, one of the country's more aristocratic colleges. All the action takes place on the campus and in the college town. There the resemblance to formula films of undergraduate capers ends.

"Brother Rat" depends upon cadet reviews and parades for its spectacle thrills. Discipline defying escapades of the upper class cadets and the hazing of the lower rats (freshmen) provides the laughs. Priscilla Lane, Wayne Morris, Ronald Reagan, Jane Wyman, Eddie Albert and Jane Bryan provide the romance.

"Stablemates" Stars Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney

When "Stablemates," co-starring Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney opened last night at the Maryland Theatre, it received an ovation from a capacity audience.

All emotional phases were covered with heavy drama and light comedy well divided. For the sport-minded, a real horsemanship presented in a climax that left everyone limp. With pictures such as this, the fans will certainly be yelling for more Beery-Rooney glims.

The story could best be described as "The Champ" at the race track, with Beery and Rooney traveling around the country with an injured racehorse. Beery, a former vet, operates and the animal is ready for the track again.

Beery is an escaped convict, and Rooney learns of the fact, although he doesn't allow his pal to know it. He tries to keep Beery away from the big race so he won't be captured, but fails. There Beery meets the man who framed him into prison and who actually was the murderer. The man turns out to be the former owner of the racehorse, and he takes it because Rooney can't show ownership papers. The horse wins the big race, but not with Rooney's colors. Then things take a change for the better in a thrilling finish.

Directed by Sam Wood, the cast is completed by Arthur Hohl, Margaret Hamilton and Marjorie Gateison.

West Va. Sheriff Faces Complaints

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP)—Three misdemeanor complaints filed against Sheriff Moore M. Reynolds may be presented to the grand jury on November 9, said Prosecutor J. Philip Clifford today.

Sergeant C. P. Wilson of the state police preferred charges against Reynolds, among them drunkenness and destroying public utility property, after Reynolds had ordered furniture moved from the troopers' headquarters in the county building.

Hearings on the charges before a magistrate were scheduled for last night, but a continuance was granted.

Marrying Parsons Reaping Harvest

United 2,308 Couples During the Month of October

Elkton, Md., Nov. 3 (P)—Elkton's marrying parsons, uncertain whether their lucrative quick-wedding trade will be ruined by a pending referendum in next week's election, made the most of their opportunities last month.

Courtroom records in this Gretna Green showed today the cupid-aiding clerics performed a grand total of 2,308 marriages in October—a new record, and 74 marriages better than the record set in September.

New York and New Jersey contributed the most altar-bound couples of the many states represented on the licenses. New York city and New York state sent 518, and New Jersey, 469. Stringent marriage laws prevail in both states.

On November 8, Maryland voters will ballot on a 48-hour marriage law, requiring three days delay between issuance of a marriage license and performance of the ceremony. If enacted, Elkton's principal business will be wrecked.

The No. 1 marrying parson for October was the Rev. C. M. Cope, recorded as performing 668 ceremonies single-handed—an average of more than 21 a day. Second was the Rev. J. T. Baker, with 464. Other leaders in the marriage field—and therefore winners in the stiff and continuous competition for the trade of romantic runaways—were the Rev. M. K. Lambert, 394 marriages; the Rev. W. W. Hopkins, 159, and the Rev. J. E. Sturgill, 144.

Record Circulation Of Money in U. S.

Washington, Nov. 3 (P)—The Federal Reserve board announced tonight that money in circulation is now the largest in American history except for the two weeks after the March 4, 1923, bank holiday.

The board estimated $6,706,000,000 of coin and currency was circulating in banks and in the hands of the public. The figure excludes currency held by the treasury and the twelve Federal Reserve banks. Officials said that the recent rise has been largely due to banks increasing the amount of cash in their vaults.

The board also reported that the lendable excess reserves of banks decreased $80,000,000 last week to a total of $3,220,000,000.

Martin Subpoenaed For Second Time

But Dies Committee Again Postpones Taking Testimony

Washington, Nov. 3 (P)—The house committee on un-American activities slapped another subpoena on Homer Martin today, but again consented to let the president of the United Automobile Workers postpone his testimony.

At the same time, chairman Dies (D-Tex.), cancelling a hearing scheduled for today, complained that the committee was having trouble getting witnesses since what he called President Roosevelt's "blast" at the methods of the inquiry.

A number of government employees have signified a desire to testify, Dies said, but now are "afraid of losing their jobs." He added that the same is true of some "laboring people."

Martin was called in connection with charges made before the committee that his union was honey-combed with Communists, who had seized key positions and fomented sit-down strikes and other disturbances.

Martin was asked to testify two weeks ago but begged off on the ground that to do so would "reopen old wounds," at the time when he was engaged in delicate negotiations with the motor manufacturers.

At that time, Dies said Martin would be excused if he would certify the correctness of published statements made by himself, charging that there had been a widespread Communist infiltration into the union. Dies would not say today what had become of this phase of the investigation.

Allegany-La Salle Meet At Stadium Tonight

Eighth Clash Will Get

8 O'clock

KEYSER HIGH SEEKS CONFERENCE TITLE
Plays Moorefield High At

Game

With just the element of chance that LaSalle's powerful but impotent football team will come to life against its arch-rival, Allegany, a large turnout of followers of the two local schools will forget past performances and turn out for their eighth grid clash this evening at Port Hill stadium at 8 o'clock.

Both teams have put in strenuous workouts during the week in preparation for their tilt this evening. While LaSalle's chances seem slim indeed against Coach Herman Ball's well-groomed eleven, Coach Johnny Blough's boys are human, and hope springs eternal in the human breast.

Bill Oswald, regular left tackle who has been trailed by the injury and had luck since the campaign started, is once more in condition and will take over his old post which had been capably filled by George Barnard and Bill Long the last six games.

The Campobello starting eleven will be Bill Spangler at left end, Oswald at left tackle, "Bucky" Stein at left guard, Fred Klein at center, Bill Hoff at right guard, Bill Robinson at right tackle, Jim Sullivan at right end, Don Jordano at quarterback, Paul "Red" Kemp at left half, Joe Wilkinson at right half and Jim Gaffney at fullback.

Coach Blough has been doing a lot of shifting with his LaSalle squad and the probable lineup will be in doubt until game time.

Blough hopes to dig up a combination that will click.

LaNeve Lost to LaSalle
LaSalle school officials announced yesterday that Benny LaNeve, holdover regular left tackle, will be unable to play due to an injured knee. LaNeve tips the beam at around 225 pounds.

The team walking off the field with the bacon this evening will go ahead in the all-time gridiron series between the Blue and White and Blue and Gold.

Seek Conference Title
Coach Homer Fizer's Keyser High Golden Tornado will go in quest of its second straight Potomac Valley Conference championship this afternoon when the Mineral counties entertain the Moorefield High eleven. In another conference encounter, Piedmont will invade Romney.

Keyser has won three consecutive conference battles, defeating Petersburg 14-0, Romney 32-0 and Parsons 25-0.

On today's card the West Virginia Deaf School and Capon Bridge High will clash at Romney and Ridgeley will entertain Berkeley Springs. Last year Keyser trimmed Moorefield 33-12, Piedmont won from Romney 13-6, and Berkeley nosed out Ridgeley 6-0.

Hillmen Play Bulldogs
Tomorrow's four-game slate is headlined by the battle at Martinsburg, W. Va., between the Bulldogs and Port Hill's Sentinels. In other tests, Handley will play at Hagerstown, Franklin at Petersburg and Shepherd College at Potomac State of Keyser.

Martinsburg will be favored to defeat the Hilltoppers in their Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest. The Bulldogs having turned in a 12-0 victory over Hagerstown in their opening loop tussle. The Sentinels were whalloped 40-0 by Handley of Winchester in their league curtain-raiser.

Coach Johnny Long said yesterday that he will use the same boys who started against Handley last week. The squad will leave tomorrow morning but it is likely that Walter Orndorff, regular quarterback, and Jack McCrorie, right end, will not accompany the team due to injuries.

The Valley Conference scrap between Franklin and Petersburg should be close. The game between Potomac State and the Shepherd Rams will be the Catamounts homecoming clash.

the Oakleys. Allegany's soccer team defeated Grantsville 4 to 0 with Grant Hockman booting a field goal for the Campers in the third quarter and James Kirkpatrick pegging one past the Grantsville goalie in the last period. Ye wekkum, William! And may the Oakleys be okeh!

Like Will Rogers, "we only know what we see in the papers." And seeing that K. O. Shroupt is to fight one Leo Stoll, "Diamond Belt Champion of Baltimore" in Frederick tonight, we know, knowing Baltimore, that the diamonds in the diamond belt come at a dime a dozen and the proper spelling should be "diamond belt," dropping the "a" in "diamond."

And Ray Cox who meets Ernie Nazelrod is supposed to be a former fighter in the army of CCC. We wonder if any of those "C's" stands for Coxey who once had an army that marched through Frederick. Looking at it from this distance and in advance of hostilities, it seems that Ernie Nazelrod is taking a whole lot of distance to travel. Ernie was always a willing sort but he never seemed to get very far over the three round route when he lasted that long, and two more two-minute sessions looks like it's more than enough route for him to hold on.

Midland was feting its Bi-State baseball champions last night, and since Midland ranks second only to Mt. Savage in the manner of putting on parties, reports emanating early in the evening from Midland were that everybody was having a good time, and good eats.

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

BY GRANTLAND RICE
The Rose Bowl Entry
New York, Nov. 3.—By tomorrow's twilight, as the sun drops back of the Sierra Nevada mountains, we will have the answer to California's Rose Bowl selection. It will be either California or Southern California.

My scouts from the West Coast, who haven't missed a guess or a call so far, write me that this game is a toss-up. But they all want California to win. Here is the reason: Alabama ran all around under and over S. California. Notre Dame is just as likely as not to whip the Trojans in early December. This would leave the West Coast with a Rose Bowl team beaten by the South and the Midwest. Which is no recommendation for West Coast supremacy.

On the other side California has won every game so far—dating back to 1927. If California can duck by U. S. C. the Golden Bears will be a standout. Southern California isn't, unless it can whip Notre Dame—which I doubt with a considerable amount of serious consideration.

Anyway, this game at Los Angeles tomorrow will be the big game of the day so far as future events are concerned. And California isn't in any too good shape physically. It is a smarter, faster team than U. S. C., but not nearly as well equipped on the man power side—which has been a vital factor this fall.

Another Test
There is still another important test. This is Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech. There is no use in wasting time telling you what the Panther is. He is still the top team of football, until someone proves otherwise.

On the other hand, Carnegie Tech has beaten Holy Cross, one of the best teams in the country. Carnegie Tech had Notre Dame held to a standstill until an official decided the issue. This is all you need to know about Carnegie Tech.

The Tartans are one of the top teams of the country, with a better record than Minnesota or Michigan so far. Here is the best team Carnegie Tech has known in years, dating back to the days when they were a poisoned thorn in Notre Dame's side.

At the start of the season Jock Sutherland admitted that Carnegie Tech would be his greatest obstacle. The records so far have proved that Jock was right.

So this happens to be another contest that will have a lot to do with the ranking of 1938.

The Round-up
California-Southern California—Just about an even game. Southern California has Bottari and the smartness. It would not surprise me to see Southern California win at home.

Pittsburgh-Carnegie Tech—One of the best games of a brilliant autumn. Carnegie Tech is no push-over. But I'll string with the Panther until someone removes his claws and fangs. I still rank Pitt as the top team of the country.

Notre Dame-Navy—I can't see where the Navy has a chance. Notre Dame is still good. It is also rugged. Notre Dame has at least ten fine backs. The South Bend Simon has too much man power.

Colgate-Syracuse—Colgate has taken Syracuse almost ever since Hector was a pup. Neither are great teams. Both are good. Syracuse was good enough to beat Cornell. Colgate was good enough to smother Columbia. I'll take a chance on Colgate.

Fordham-St. Mary's—Unless Pittsburgh removed the soul from the Fordham Ram, I'll take Fordham. I'll take Fordham anyway.

An interlude—Harvard will beat Chicago by a wider margin than Seabiscuit beat War Admiral. It shouldn't be a contest. Columbia can still handle Virginia, even with Luckman missing.

Michigan-Penn.—Michigan is at least two touchdowns better than Penn any day Michigan decides to play a little football.

Northwestern-Wisconsin—One of the toughest games of the day. Both are still in the hot running for the Big Ten title. Northwestern with only a meager offense, has the shade. But only a faint shade.

I'll take Ohio State over Purdue in another almost draw, and I'll take Minnesota over Iowa. I like Texas A. and M. over S. M. U. U. C. L. A. should handle Washington State. Tennessee has a walk-over. Duke doesn't play. Nebraska should handle Kansas.

T. C. U., one of the star teams of the country, will take care of Tulsa. Oklahoma, another outstanding team, will beat Kansas State. I like Vanderbilt and Alabama—Alabama has a walk-over. Duke doesn't play. Nebraska should handle Kansas.

Tulane team is coming in a hurry. Dartmouth and Army have set-ups. Yale and Brown are just about 50-50. I'll take a chance on Yale. Princeton should win. We'll let it go at that.

Gabby's Homer Bal In Chicago Museum

Chicago, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Chicago Historical Society hasn't got that jump Mrs. O'Leary's cow is reputed to have kicked over to start the Chicago fire, but today it did have the bat with which Gabby Hartnett banged out a home run in the dusk of September 28 to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates and spark Chicago's Cubs to the National League pennant.

The bat, along with the glove, mask, chest protector and shin guards the Cub manager used that day, will be placed on permanent exhibit in the society's museum.

Northwestern's
"Wildcats" Are On Prowl Again

Heading Toward Top of Big Ten Under Waldorf

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats are "on the prowl"—heading toward the dominating position clinched so long by Minnesota in the Big Ten football wars.

In his fourth season as Northwestern's coach, Lynn Waldorf has a well balanced team which is driving toward the western conference title. But more than that—Northwestern is showing signs of producing, within the next few years, powerful teams which may at least rival the remarkable record of Minnesota eleven compiled under Bernie Bierman.

To Be Strong in '39
Northwestern, with a string of four victories and one scoreless tie with Ohio State this season, has one of the most sound defenses produced by a midwest team this season. Waldorf, a great tackle at Syracuse, has a flock of fast charging forwards and a backfield thoroughly grounded in defensive play.

Regardless of how Northwestern finishes this season, the Wildcats will be in the upper bracket of 1939 Big Ten teams and may come up with one of the strongest teams in school's history. Only one regular backfield man, Bernie Jefferson, will be lost by graduation. From the line, only three starters will be gone.

Reserve strength, according to Waldorf, enabled Northwestern to upset Minnesota last Saturday, and the Wildcats have a wealth of replacements on which to build during the next two seasons. Sophomore stars include Francis Purcell, Erwin Madsen and Oliver Hestnain, while from the freshman

SPORTS TRAIL

By PAUL NICKELSON
New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—The old professor's soap box championship for the week was won by Holy Cross with Duke and Tennessee the runners-up. The postman rang 32 times with letters from Holy Cross fans, all of them irate because the national football ratings failed to place the Crusaders among the first ten.

Bits of readable and printable quotes from the soapbox, open to all the peepul who wish to throw wire why they think their teams or favorite players are tops:

Jeff Price, Worcester, Mass.: "We may not have any high priced press agent to do Holy Cross' tub thumping for us but we really do play football up here. You refuse to rate in your first 15 teams a Holy Cross eleven which, in the past three years, has been twice undefeated. You rate Duke eleventh. Duke barely beat Colgate. Holy Cross licked Colgate, 21-0 with 19 first downs to Colgate's 3; 278 yards rushing to Colgate's 54."

Ted Mann, Duke press agent: "Why Duke eleventh? Don't you pay off on defenses, professor?"

Al Sharp, Chattanooga Times: "Please take another look at Fordham's record. Rank 'em all above Tennessee—let Pitt rule the football world—give T. C. U. anything—both Fordham. Well, I'll play you 18 holes of golf to see whether Fordham is placed sixteenth or nineteenth. I'll take Tenn. I'm telling you they play some tough football in these parts. If Tenn makes the Rose Bowl, watch Bob Andridge go on catching and running with passes. He once did the 100-yard dash at an Atlanta track meet in 9.5, according to five clocks."

John Murphy, Tulsa, Okla.: "Reference to the referee's error as setting up the ball for a Notre Dame touchdown against Carnegie Tech is leaving me cold. The ball went to Notre Dame on Tech's 45 which hardly can be called a set-up. In five or six plays from that point, Notre Dame went over for a touchdown and that's not what you'd call covering ground at a snail's pace."

Derby "Preview" In Final Running

Last Jockey Club Stakes
For Classic's Candidates
Tomorrow

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3 (AP)—The Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes, looked upon by horsemen as a "preview" of Kentucky Derby candidates, will be discontinued as a feature of the fall race meeting at Churchill Downs here after the nineteenth running Saturday.

Three of the event's winners—Reigh Count, Clyde Van Dusen and Twenty Grand—have come back the following year as 3-year-olds to capture the rich Kentucky Derby at the Downs. Among other victors were The Stars, Mata Hari and Reaping Reward.

Col. Daniel E. O'Sullivan, an official at the Downs, made no comment in disclosing the event was to be dropped, but track observers said the race had failed to attract topflight 2-year-olds in recent years because of the conflict with richer Eastern stakes.

Downs officials said no subscriptions were accepted this year at horse sales for the race.

Lightspur, owned by John Marsch, of Chicago, is expected to rule favorite for the final running of the $5,000-added race Saturday as Churchill Downs' fall meeting comes to a close. The brown son of Blue Larkspur was clocked in 1:44 4-5 for the mile distance in a workout yesterday.

Bradley Horse Lame, Is Retired For Year

Baltimore, Nov. 3 (AP)—Benefactor, E. R. Bradley's crack 2-year-old, will be retired for the year to recover from lameness. He came out of his winning effort in the fifth race at Pimlico Tuesday in bad shape and his trainers decided yesterday on a long rest.

Lewis Says He'll Beat Bosom Pal, Joe Louis

Negro Champions Do Everything But Sign For Go

Light-Heavy and Heavy-weight Kings To Meet Jan. 27

ONLY HITCH IS SUIT WITH COMMISSION

John Henry Must Say He Was Only Fooling With Solons

New York, Nov. 3.—Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, and John Henry Lewis, who is recognized as the light-heavyweight ruler everywhere except in this state, met at Promoter Mike Jacobs' office here today and ironed out the details of their 15-round fight at the Garden on January 27.

The pair, who will be the first to meet in an all-negro heavyweight championship fight in this country, did everything except sign the official contract. They will attend to that on Nov. 25.

Must Back Down
The commissioners want to speak to John Henry, who recently threatened to sue them for a bundle of money because they had vacated his 175-pound title. John Henry undoubtedly will assure the commissioners that he was only fooling.

Joe Louis, the champ, will receive 40 per cent of the gate, which should run around $100,000, and John Henry will get 17 1/2 per cent. John Henry had to agree to fight exclusively for Mike Jacobs for five years in the unlikely event he out-gallops Joe.

Herman Taylor, the Philadelphia promoter, showed up at the meeting demanding $2,000 from John Henry, claiming that he had advanced Lewis that amount last summer when the negro was preparing for a scrap with Tony Galento. The fight wasn't held because Galento contracted pneumonia. Taylor got his money and said some unkind things about John Henry running out on a "gentlemen's agreement."

Lewis said he was sure he would whip Joe, but declined to name the round. He and Joe have been bosom friends for years. John Henry said he would weigh about 185 on the big night, as against Joe's 200.

Says 278 Will Clinch White Sulphur Open
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Nov. 3.—If you take the opinion of Billy Burke former U. S. open golf champion, a 278 gets top money in the $3,000 White Sulphur Springs open beginning November 8.

Burke, finishing up a practice round today, remarked that "the greens are firm but long, the fairways are hard but the tees are set back. Yes, I'd say with good weather 278 will win it."

Par for the Old White course, over which the first annual tourney will be played, is 70.

Randolph Scott, film actor here for a holiday and nursing a badly burned left hand, agrees with Burke.

Northwestern's "Wildcats" Are On Prowl Again

squad will come Bill De Corvont, the high school flash.

Waldorf succeeded Dick Manley and took charge of the Wildcats in 1935, when his team won four games, lost three and tied one.

Northwestern won the Big Ten title with six victories and no conference defeats in 1936 and last year won three Big Ten games and lost the same number. Still on the Northwestern schedule are Wisconsin, Michigan and Notre Dame.

Waldorf's club is rated a good chance of stopping the Irish November 19—and if such is the case the Wildcats may go on a triumphant tear the next few seasons.

Extra Bleachers Being Erected For Navy-Irish Game

Over 55,000 Tickets Sold --Crowd May Set Record

Middies Suffer Blow With Loss of Star Back, Wood

Baltimore, Nov. 3.—U. S. Naval Academy officials announced here today 55,000 tickets already have been sold for the Navy-Notre Dame game here Saturday and that extra bleachers were being erected to handle the crowd.

Tickets still are available in every section of the Municipal Stadium, which seats 60,000 normally, officials said. The bleachers will handle overflow patronage unable to secure permanent seats.

Extra seats have not been installed at the stadium since 1935, when Notre Dame met the Tars here last.

Anapolis, Nov. 3.—Navy prospects of an upset victory over Notre Dame at Baltimore Saturday went into a nose-dive today when Emmett (Punkin) Wood, leading Middle ground gainer, went to sick bay with a sacro-iliac sprain.

Wood's back was injured in the Penn game, and his injury grew worse in this week's rehearsal for the classic Saturday. It was held doubtful that he will get in the game.

Wood, a chunky, 175-pound powerhouse, has been teamed with Cliff Lenz to furnish most of the Navy drive on the ground. He is also a nifty pass receiver. No other Navy back has his knack of exploding through an opposing line.

Wood is also hard to stop in a broken field. He ran a kickoff back 90 yards for a tally against Virginia.

Two changes in the starting line-up were confirmed today by Coach Hank Hardwick. Dan Baughman will start in place of Lou Burke at end. Corbett and Burke will be held in reserve.

Louis (Pat) Gray, big Houston, (Tex.) blocking back, will start instead of Ed Gillette. Gillette has been slowed by a foot injury. Gray is a second classman (junior) and weighs 185 pounds. He was injured earlier in the season and only lately rounded into shape.

Jimmie Dykes Plans An Active Campaign In Trading Market
Chicago, Nov. 3.—Jimmie Dykes, manager of Chicago's White Sox, does not expect to be on the active list next season, but hopes to be active in the winter trading marts.

Dykes, here for a conference with Owner J. Louis Comiskey on his way from California to his Upper Darby (Pa.) home, said he was looking for a regular catcher and a hard-hitting outfielder. On the block he tentatively placed Pitcher Johnny Whitehead—"if I can get anything for him."

The Sox boss is exasperated with the failure of the big pitcher to follow through on his rookie performance in 1935. Whitehead won his first eight starts that year, but ensuing seasons found him pitching what Dykes considered below-par ball. Last season he won 10 and lost 11.

Dykes, who played in 26 games as utility infielder last summer, said his 41-year-old legs would put him on the retired list "by at least May 15" next season.

Lardner Gives Advice To Kiddies In Poetic Predictions On Games

By JOHN LARDNER
Copyright, 1938.
New York, Nov. 3.—Although our rhymed football selections are helping men and women all over the country to turn an honest dollar and think beautiful thoughts, it develops that they are not doing the kiddies any good at all.

Your correspondent has always been one to give a helping hand to children whenever possible and set them in the right path. Therefore, we combine our surefire winners this week with a sure guide to morals for boys and girls, a sort of Hoyle for kiddies, a garland of beautiful precepts for future voters.

For instance:
Clean Living
Tulsa's team will lose the ball game.
T. C. U. will land on top.
(Don't smoke Pop's cigars, young fellow;
Look at what they do to Pop.)

Fair Play
Iowa will have her hands full Stopping Minnesota's backs.
(Heaven ain't got any room for Little girls who cheat at jacks.)

Bullying
Michigan will keep her goal line Safe from Pennsylvania's sons.
(Never pick on smaller children, When they carry loaded guns.)

Hygiene
Carnegie will lose a tough one To those Pittsburgh Musketeers.
(Alcatraz is full of guys who Failed to wash behind the ears.)

Kindness to Animals
Fordham's boys are on the rebound; Watch 'em push St. Mary's over.
(Keep your hands off daddy's razor When you feel like shaving Rover.)

Self-Control
Here's a tight one, wherein Rutgers Holds the Princeton's to a tie.
(Tote who talk too much at meal-time Go to Congress when they die.)

Respect for Parents
Dartmouth's team will roll the score up While defeating Dickinson.
(Don't talk back to Poppa. He out-weighs you, kid, by three to one.)

Christian Resignation
Navy's line is strong indeed, but San Mateo, Cal., Nov. 3.—The Bay Meadows handicappers today slapped top weight of 127 pounds on the black Argentine horse, Ligaroti, for the $5,000-added six furlongs race here Saturday.

Other nominations in the Burlingame and their weights are: Happy Bolivar, 112; Polvos Prince, 103; Sky Lanty, 105; Masker, 107; Today, 113; Dogaway, 120; Susi Q, 102; Brown Jade, 113; Roy T, 112; Lavengro, 116; High Vote, 105, and Routine, 106.

TO THE VOTERS:
Drunken Driving on the highways has become a near major crime. In such cases, Judges must act with firmness. The Parole System should not be administered to the terror of the law-abiding. It may be well for the people to know that every "G-man" cut down while enforcing Federal statutes has been killed by a paroled prisoner from the Courts of some of the States. The best security for the lives and property of a free people is to not allow men, who know no law, care for no order, feel no pity, have no respect for this Government to be at large among a law abiding public.

Six County Boxers Do Stuff Tonight

Take Part in Legion Post Amateur Show at Frederick

Six Cumberland amateur boxers will test their mettle this evening against as many simon-pure punchers all of whom hail from either Baltimore or the vicinity where the Francis Scott Key Post American Legion is sponsoring the show.

In the main go of five rounds K. O. Shroud, local light-heavyweight will take on Leo Stoll of Baltimore, the diamond belt champion of the Monumental City.

Ernie Nazeled of Cumberland will try to go five rounds with Ray Cox, former CCG battler, who is something of a drawing card in the city that Barbara Fritchie made famous for signs that advertise candy.

Homer "Stoney" Jackson of Prosbury will take on Marion Barnes of Baltimore, a boy who has shown his wares in Cumberland. George Magasman, another clouter from the city of crabs and clam-bakes, is to give Ferdi Franchi the opposition in a three rounder, while Ferdi's brother Armand, local featherweight, will meet Joe Kursh, of Frederick, in a three round setto.

Kid Young, local welterweight, will meet George Zambounis of Baltimore.

Notre Dame will go right through it.
(Don't rely on alibis if Seven people saw you do it.)

Clean Language
Georgetown's team will rise in wrath And shatter Bucknell's rosy dreams.
(Don't look now, but boys who cuss Wind up coaching football teams.)

Thoughtfulness in Classroom
Temple's slightly out of luck, for Holy Cross will pile it high.
(If your teacher don't like apples, Try her with a pint of rye.)

Athletics
Violating old tradition, Colgate bows to Syracuse.
(Play the game, and know the rules, son;
Any three-spot beats a deuce.)

Mass Intimidation
Oregon will win a close one From the U. of Idaho.
(Kids who scare their little sisters End up on the radio.)

Diet
Ohio State goes down at last, Purdue will be the winner.
(Girls who chew their fingernails Spoil their appetite for dinner.)

Women
When the game with Rice is over, Arkansas will not be leading.
(Shirley Temple's gorgeous, sure but, Son, she takes a lot of feeding.)

Shepherd Arrives Today For Game With Potomac

Keyser, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Information received in Keyser today that the Shepherd Rams are leaving Shepherdstown Friday for their game here Saturday indicates that they are expecting to go back home with the bacon. They are to work out Friday evening in Romney and then spend the night in Keyser. In recent years they have been coming up on the day of the game but Newcome is leaving no stones uncovered this year.

The fact that Coach Horse Lough has been scrimmaging with the Catamounts this week indicates that he is taking the game with all seriousness. Word has been received from Shepherdstown that they are bringing the largest following to Keyser, this year, in the history of the school. Potomac State Grads attending West Virginia University have sent word that they have chartered a special bus to return to the Homecoming affair.

With this kind of spirit spreading to the squads there is sure to be plenty of fireworks in store for the spectators Saturday Lough has not been satisfied with the spirit of the Catamount squad this year but said that he thought they would be in the proper mood for this game.

By FRED BROWNING
Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 3.—West Virginia's scholastic football teams move into the "November Showdown" stage tomorrow, with at least two undefeated clubs facing bitter battles to retain that status beyond this weekend's milling.

Coach Arthur Clyde's Morgantown aggregation, pounding along with a string of hard-earned victories and a tough Washington Irving battle just behind it, must meet a smooth-functioning ball club in Elkins.

It looks like "continued cloudy weather" for the foes of Parkersburg and Weirton. East Fairmont isn't given a chance against the Big Reds Saturday and the outlook isn't much brighter for Benwood-Union against Carl Hamill's Riders. Parkersburg trounced Huntington and Weirton slammed Weirburg about in a last-half scoring orgy last weekend.

Power displayed consistently so far should win again for Morgantown but when it's considered that Winer's crew is playing at home, in good physical and mental trim, don't be surprised at a tie—or an Elkins victory.

Moundsville, an undefeated pan-handle representative, may lose that ranking in a hurry Saturday at home against a Victory team that apparently came to life with a 20-0 triumph over Roosevelt Wilson last weekend in an intra-Clarksburg battle.

Local Payrolls Jump $170,000 In One Month

Industrial Wage Total Hits Million and Half Mark

Cumberland's industrial workers drew $170,000 more in wages in September than they did in August, figures compiled by the Chamber of Commerce showed yesterday.

It was the first time this year that the industrial payroll has passed the $1,500,000 mark.

There were also 259 more men employed in Cumberland industries in September than in August.

Both payroll and employment figures are still far under the 1937 figures for the same month, but a steady comeback is apparent.

In September, 1938, there were 13,944 men and women employed, compared to 17,614 in 1937.

Payrolls in September, 1938, amounted to $1,572,158.82, compared to $1,402,438.78 a year ago.

Industrial activity, based on reports from seventeen local industries employing fifty or more persons, has been increasing steadily, however, since January.

Employment in January was 9,730 and in July, 12,095. Payrolls in January were $1,121,579, and in June, $1,403,212.

The retail trade for September was off 17.7 per cent from the same month a year ago, according to figures supplied the chamber by William L. Sherman, public accountant.

Concert Drive Tops Last Year

With only two days before the close of the campaign, the Co-operative Concert Association announced last night that it was approximately fifty per cent ahead of last year at the corresponding time.

Many new members have joined this year, which in addition to the former members who are re-subscribing, will make for one of the largest concert associations ever to be operated in this city, campaigners said.

"There may be some doubt in people's minds about the necessity for joining before this Saturday, the final day of the drive," said Mrs. George Henderson, co-membership chairman.

"Absolutely no tickets will be sold the night of each concert," she emphasized, "and no membership will be sold after this Saturday. All of the dues are being deposited in a local bank. On Saturday the local artist committee will choose the attractions to be presented on the basis of what funds are already in. To avoid disappointment, everyone must understand this feature of the association."

It is not necessary to be asked to join the Association to become a member. Dues can be paid at headquarters at 123 Baltimore street.

"While the results so far have been satisfactory," stated John Mordock, president, "we must have a large membership to insure a high calibre of talent."

B.O. Engineer Ends 41 Years of Service

George A. North, of 32 Virginia avenue, has brought to a close 41 years of continuous service on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Mr. North entered the service of the B. & O. October 1, 1897, as fireman on the east end of the Cumberland division. Promoted to locomotive engineer in December, 1900, he has been passenger engineer on the Cumberland-Washington and Cumberland-Baltimore runs for the past 15 years.

His retirement was effective October 16.

State Roads Chairman To Preside at Rally

Preparation went forward today for the Republican rally to be held Friday night at the Firemen's hall under auspices of the Young Republican Club of Frostburg. A mammoth attendance is expected.

Announcement was made today by the program committee that J. Glenn Beall, chairman of the State Roads Commission, would be here to attend and would serve as chairman of the meeting. George Henderson, Cumberland attorney and chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, will make the introductory remarks.

Practically all the candidates on the county ticket will be on hand and will be introduced; and A. Charles Stewart, nominee for Congress; Judge William A. Hunter, nominee for associate judge; Morgan C. Harris, nominee for state attorney, and Robert B. Kimble, nominee for state senator, will each make short talks.

Elect New Officers

The Christopher Columbus Society at a regular meeting Wednesday night elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Peter J. Carpentieri, local attorney, president; Pasquale DiNicola, vice-president; Joseph DiNicola, secretary; John Basile, treasurer; Joseph Catania, assistant secretary, and Vincent Carpentieri, Marco Carnaccio and Frank Lisanti, trustees.

The new officers will be installed after the first of the year.

Death Takes "Dad" Licot, But Only After Machinery Had Taken His Art

The ever thinning ranks of artists in glass manufacture were cut again this week when death claimed 70-year-old Arthur G. Licot, of 413 Arch street.

But "Dad" Licot had already outlived his art.

His specialty was the making of goblets and similar glassware. This work he did by hand.

Today, with advances in technology, such work is done largely by machinery.

Once Made Entire Goblet

"Dad" worked at the Maryland Glass Company plant here, where he was respected for his skill and loved for his good nature by all his fellow-employees. He had been retired for about ten years.

Originally he made an entire goblet himself, casting separately the bowl, the stem, and the "foot," and joining the three together.

Then, when the bowl and stem were cast in one piece, he became a "foot-caster," continuing his artistic tradition in this phase of the work.

Now, foot casting is done chiefly by machinery, and the "off-hand" work of men such as "Dad" is rapidly becoming a "lost art."

His Art A Family Tradition

In fact, it is estimated that glassworkers able to turn out work of the type for which the Cumberland was noted now number less than a score throughout the county.

"Dad" came to America from Belgium in 1905 at the request of a Rochester, Pa., glass factory.

A member of a family which had specialized in glass work for generations, he had been employed in the Bal St. Lambert glass works, largest in the world.

Together with other expert craftsmen, he came to America to introduce the Belgian method into America.

Won Brussels Prize

From Rochester, "Dad" went to Morgantown, W. Va., thence to London.

His specialty was the making of goblets and similar glassware. This work he did by hand.

Today, with advances in technology, such work is done largely by machinery.

O'Connor Charges Nice Is Dodging Campaign Issues

Plays Republican Opponent For "Misleading" Tactics

Baltimore, Nov. 3. (P)—Maryland's Republican Governor Harry W. Nice, up for re-election has consistently dodged the issues of the gubernatorial campaign and resorted to "misleading" tactics, his Democratic opponent asserted tonight.

Attorney General Herbert R. O'Connor, the Democratic candidate, reiterated in a broadcast address that Governor Nice was resorting to "jury tactics" he used as a criminal lawyer to "divert attention to irrelevant matters."

Sees Appeal to Prejudice

"Knowing that the record of his administration is against him," O'Connor said, "Governor Nice seeks . . . to appeal to prejudice, to create dissension and to again mislead the voters as he did four years ago when he made numerous promises which he has failed to fulfill."

In addition, the attorney general asserted, Nice "seeks to mislead the voters concerning the policies which I have advocated during the campaign." For example, he continued, the governor "falsely charged that O'Connor 'proposed to buy every acre of land in Garrett county' for a recreational park area and state forest."

Refers to Cumberland Speech

As late as last night, O'Connor continued, Governor Nice claimed the Democratic candidate had taken no stand on labor questions, whereas O'Connor made a "comprehensive labor speech" at Cumberland recently in which "I set forth my belief in the principles of collective bargaining and gave assurance that my administration would regard its obligations to labor as a sacred trust."

O'Connor asserted again he had made no political commitments of any kind during the campaign and was free of any obligations should he be elected.

Claims Nice is "Weak"

"The tactics of my opponent," he summed up, "grew out of the weakness of his position. His lack of leadership has been abundantly demonstrated; his preoccupation with patronage, rewards and favors is known to all; he has shown an unwillingness to study problems on their merits."

"He has appointed persons to high office who were utterly unfit," O'Connor continued, "some of whom he was forced to remove; taken as a whole, he has selected his appointees from his personal and political friends in preference to able and conscientious Republicans who were much better qualified."

No Typhoid Deaths Here

Allegany county was one of six Maryland counties without a case of diphtheria during the first nine months of the year, and of thirteen counties in which no typhoid deaths have occurred during the same period, Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health, announced.

Chemists Get Patent

G. W. Seymour and V. S. Salvin, Celanese chemists here, have been granted patent No. 2,234,895 on a process for the preparation of cellulose hydroxy ethers. The patent has been assigned to the Celanese Corporation.

150 Veterans Join Cumberland Legion Post In Membership Drive

Membership in Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, is increasing daily and more than 150 new membership cards have been taken out since the membership banquet two weeks ago, according to Robert Bowers, post commander.

The post plans many activities during the winter. Commander Bowers said in announcing that the drive would be continued through Armistice Day when it is expected that more than 500 World War veterans will hold Legion cards.

Fort Cumberland Post is one of the most active in the state and state officers recently commended the membership for work in behalf of children.

V. P. Ingram has charge of the membership drive.

Food Prices Rise Sharply During Month of October

A housewife who went into a grocery store today would have to pay nearly $4 for the same basket of staple foods she could have bought for a little more than $3 a month ago, according to figures prepared by the Chamber of Commerce.

Food prices advanced sharply during the month and are just under what they were a year ago, when business was still enjoying a mild boom, the survey shows.

Last year, prices for the same staples remained near $4 throughout the month.

Nice Asks O'Connor Why He Does Not Reply To Charges

Governor Believes Opponent Should Probe "Vote Buying"

Baltimore, Nov. 3. (P)—Harry W. Nice ended a re-election campaign speech here tonight with an official demand on Attorney General Herbert R. O'Connor, his Democratic gubernatorial opponent, to explain why O'Connor failed to investigate alleged "vote-buying" in the recent primaries.

Returning to a question he asked O'Connor earlier in the campaign, the governor rephrased it, and clothed it in official verbiage as coming from Maryland's governor to Maryland's attorney general.

"Before closing," he said in a broadcast address, "I want to mention the allegation—which has been publicly made, on the charge of vote buying in Queen Anne's county during the recent primaries."

"Grave and Serious Matter"

"These charges have been printed in the newspapers and are a matter of public knowledge. It is a grave and serious matter."

"Unless Mr. O'Connor wants to continue to suffer the belief of the people that he has not investigated this vote-buying charge, because he was the recipient of the primary benefits therein—then act now. Not after the general election."

Looks To People

"It seems odd that the people must remind Mr. O'Connor of his oath of office and his responsibilities as attorney general."

The governor's demand concluded a speech devoted largely to a discussion of fiscal affairs of his administration, and a reiteration of previous claims he had wiped out a deficit left by his Democratic predecessors, had balanced the budget, and now has a comfortable balance in the banks.

"When I am returned to office, I shall approach the entire tax situation, maintaining always the proper balance between borrowing, expenditures and taxation, so that Maryland's financial situation shall remain as strong as the rock of Gibraltar and that Maryland democracy shall not be taxed out of existence."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bible, 235 Humbird street, announce the birth of a son yesterday morning at Allegany Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halle, of Cresaptown, announce the birth of a son yesterday at Allegany Hospital.

There were 3,331 WPA workers in Allegany county for the week ending Tuesday, compared to 3,326 for the previous week.

Although no new workers are being taken on because quotas are already over-filled, the increase is due to re-assignment of former WPA workers who have had temporary private employment.

The relief rolls are expected to be further swelled if twenty-two men yet to report for re-assignment do report.

Of the total, 1,262 are on city sponsored projects; 519 on projects east of the city which are sponsored by the county commissioners; 1,302 on projects west of the city, which are sponsored by the commissioners and various municipalities; 151 in the Cumberland sewing room; 47 in the Lonaconing sewing room; and 50 on miscellaneous projects.

There are also 175 young people employed on National Youth Administration projects.

Two new city street and curbing projects are scheduled to start Wednesday. They are on Montgomery street and Arnett terrace.

WPA Employment Sets Record Again

WPA rolls hit an all-time new high this week, exceeding by five the record number employed last week. E. F. Hovermill, resident engineer announced.
